ATTACKED IN HIS STORE

East Cambridge Proprietor Is Beaten; Then Cash Drawer Is Cleaned Out

Abraham Boltan was assaulted and robbed of $200 by two armed men, while opening his store at No. 33 Marney street, East Cambridge, today.

The robbers, who fled up Portland street, made their escape, and no trace was found of them by the police.

According to Boltan, he was taking down the shutters when two young men entered the store.

Boltan approached them to be greeted by a revolver in the hands of the smaller man, together with a request for money.

Before the storekeeper could act, one of the bandits struck Boltan on the head with a blunt instrument.

The man sank to the floor, while the robbers cleaned out the cash drawer and fled.

JUMPS FROM WINDOW OF SOMERVILLE HOSPITAL

Rather than submit to a request that he go to the Psychopathic Hospital for observation, Thomas P. O'Neil, thirty-five years old, patient at the Somerville Hospital, leaped from a second-story window today and cut his nose. Lieutenant Kennedy and Inspector Simonds of the Somerville police, with Policeman McGrath and Michael Horan, a hospital engineer, subdued O'Neill in the hospital yard.

Sam's Brother Sam Is Being Paged

There are too many Sams in the Cohen family, and that's all there is to it.

Clerks in the East Boston Court almost got nervous prostration today trying to figure them out.

This is the way it was:

Sam Cohen of Dorchester and Tufts Dental College was arraigned charged with employing minors to perform in a theatre on "amateur night."

Said Sam painstakingly informed the court that it was not he, but his brother Sam, who ran the theatre.

Judge Barnes wanted to know how two Sams came to be in one family, even in the Cohen family. Sam, the first Sam, said he guessed it just happened.

So the wrong Sam was discharged and the police went looking for the right one.

LEGION MOVED TO 'DUGOUT'

Losing Quarters, Officers Will Protest to Coolidge and the Legislature

Moved from the light, airy rooms on the first floor front of the State House West wing to "poorly and miserably ventilated" headquarters in the sub-basement in the rear of the State Capitol on the Derne street side, the State officers of the American Legion today decided to protest to Governor Coolidge and the Legislature against "this unjust discrimination."

The furnishings and fixings in the Legion's State headquarters, room No. 179, occupied since the day the Legislature granted the war heroes the right to use the State House, were moved by a force of Superintendent Fred M. Kimball's men to room No. 6, in the sub-basement today.

"Although the State gave us the headquarters in the State House and said they should be suitably furnished, the State has given us only two pieces of furniture and we have had to hire whatever else we needed," said State Adjutant Leo Spillane.

"The new place is a dugout, poorly lighted and miserably ventilated. Every member of the legion resents this discrimination, especially at a time when we are making a drive for new members, a drive indorsed by Governor Coolidge in a special proclamation.

MARINES ACCUSED OF TORTURE

San Domingo Leaders Declare U. S. Imprisons Natives Without Trial

Worcester, May 20.—Amazing charges were made against Americans in the Caribbean Islands today by Jacinto Lopez, editor of La Reforma Social, and Judge Otto Schoenrich, secretary to the Minister of Finance of the Dominican Republic.

Speaking at Clark University conference they declared that:

American marines torture natives of San Domingo.

Residents of the county are sentenced to hard labor without a trial by American provost courts.

A policy of force and oppression is maintained by the government, in violation of international law, in the Caribbean.

A spirit of violent opposition and resentment against everything American has been developed.

That General Pershing, on the way to a ball in his honor at Panama, was forced to return to his hotel because of a demonstration by natives against the acquisition of part of Tabogo.

CONDEMNS OFFICIALS.

The statements were made at the seventh conference, held for the purpose of discussing Mexico and the West Indie Islands, and was attended by representatives of seventeen colleges and universities.

Senor Lopez condemned the administration at Washington for the perpetration of rank injustices. He spoke of the Pershing incident, and declared that a similar outbreak against America and Americans had been manifested in other places.

He declared that his government carries forward its policy in the island even over the expressed disapproval of Congress, and said that the situation is one of force pure and simple.

"It is the dictatorial use of overwhelming might," he said, "in countries too weak and distressed even to think of resisting. The President of the United States, whoever he may be, shapes the destinies of small countries without a consistent and deliberate policy, with no knowledge or comprehension of the people of these countries, their problems, their needs, their woes, their aspirations; without any regard for international law, sometimes violating the very elements of Christian civilization.

BY USE OF FORCE.

"By force the United States prevented Colombia, from maintaining her integrity, by force the United States established in San Domingo in 1916 an American military government, by force it obtained in 1914 rights and privileges in Nicaragua, which practically destroyed the political existence of that country as a sovereign nation, and impaired the independence of each and all the other Central American republics. It is by force that the condition and situation thus created in those countries are maintained."

Mrs. W. A. Slater, Jr., Wins Reno Divorce

Mrs. William A. Slater, Jr. (Madelaine Allen), who is legally separated from son of millionaire.

An alleged desire for "discreditable associates and surroundings," and cruel treatment on the part of William A. Slater, Jr., Harvard man and son of the late millionaire cotton manufacturer, procured a divorce for Mrs. Madeline Allen Slater, it was learned today.

The beautiful Mrs. Slater, whose husband worked for $8 a week in his father's cotton mills in Connecticut while a student at Harvard, was granted a divorce in Reno, Nev., and permitted to resume her maiden name.

This action ended a romance which blossomed at the Slater country estate, "Home Farm," at Lenox, and was watched with interest by fashionable society of New England, New York and Washington.

The engagement of Miss Madelaine Allen of South Orange, N. J., famed for her beauty both in America and Europe, to the son of Mrs. William A. Slater of Washington, heir to one of the largest fortunes in the country, was announced early in 1919. They were married that Summer and spent considerable time at Lenox.

While a student at Harvard in 1913 young Slater decided a practical education in the mills would be more desirable than a college course and took a job as a mill hand at Jewett City, Ct. He kept the job several months, riding back and forth in one of the family automobiles.

PRICES CUT ALL OVER COUNTRY

Bankers Declare Federal Reserve Is Cutting Credits to Stop Speculation

The cut in retail prices all over the country continued to spread today. Advertisements showed many large merchants slashing prices to amost pre-war standards.

Financial experts interpreted the movement as pressure exerted from above through the Federal Reserve banks tending to tighten credit and put a stop to wildcat speculation in the necessaries of life.

Louis K. Liggett, former president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, said foreign exchange rates were operating so much to the disadvantage of England, France and Italy that foreign export trade had fallen off, with a consequent choking of the local markets.

Faced with an over-supply, local merchants depending on the New York and London markets, were forced to cut prices to get rid of their surplus stocks and effect a turn over.

FORCED TO EXTEND LOANS.

Boston bankers said today they had little money tied up in "frozen loans" of a speculative nature. They admitted that much of the stringency in the money market was due to the freight tie-up with the consequent forced extension of loan time.

Local labor leaders see no chance of workers accepting lower wages even though prices are falling. They said labor would have to fall much more than they have before wages could be kept stationary.

The cut price movement was reflected in the local and New York

COOLIDGE FOR PAY INCREASE

Tells Legislature That State Employes Must Be Given More Money

Governor Coolidge today declared in a special message to the Legislature that thousands of State employes must be given substantial increases in wages to meet the high cost of living.

The declaration was made by Governor Coolidge in submitting the supplementary State budget to the Legislature and was his first public statement on the salary fight which has stirred 30,000 State employes and the Legislature.

"Living expenses are at present high," said the Governor. "The textile industry of the Commonwealth has recently provided an increase of wages of 15 per cent. If wages are increased in private enterprises, the wages paid the employes of the State which have not been proportionately increased must necessarily now be increased.

"This should be done by direct fixing of the standard of compensation and through the regular channels rather than by attempting to provide for the financial expenditures of the Commonwealth by those not responsible for the making and submitting of the budget.

Cardinal O'Connell Is Honored in Rome

Dispatches from Italy today announce that Cardinal O'Connell of Boston was given a dinner yesterday by the American College in Rome in honor of the nineteenth anniversary of his consecration as Bishop of Portland. Present were fifty American students, officers of Papal Court, representatives of the American consulate, prelates called to Rome for the canonization of Joan d'Arc, and other notables of the laity.

Presented by the Rev. Charles A. O'Hearn, rector of the college, Cardinal O'Connell made a stirring address, saying, in part:

"We who were educated here have taken to America the word of Rome that all men are children of the same civilization. The Roman Catholic church fights against Bolshevism and Socialism and thus represents the greatest bulwark against disorder, revolution and disintegration."

BARES COMBINE TO ROB TENANTS

Boston Is in the Grip of a 'Landlord's Trust,' Ellis Declares

Boston is in the grip of a veritable "landlord's trust," Herbert E. Ellis of the Mayor's Committee on Rents and Housing declared today.

Mr. Ellis said his inquiries as a member of the committee had convinced him that hundreds of landlords were concerned in a vast scheme to pass properties from hand to hand with rent increases accompanying each change, and keep the tenant so confused he would not know which landlord to blame.

The "trust," he said, is backed by financial interests, which make money on mortgages. Many of the members of the loosely-knit but powerful combine are "shoestring investors" who try to pay off mortgages in a few years at the expense of their tenants, he declared.

Mr. Ellis, in discussing possible remedies, did not pin much faith on the anti-profiteering bills recently passed by the House. He pointed out that the 25 per cent. clause would permit many property owners to charge rents that would be anything else but reasonable.

Bathing Beauties Soon to Bask on Beaches

Girls, get out your one-piece bathing suits! Dust the cobwebs from your swimming caps and pray for Summer weather.

The Metropolitan Park commission said today that Revere Beach, Nantasket and Lynn Beach bath houses would be opened for bathing as "soon as warm weather prevails." The official opening dates are set at June 15 for Revere and Nantasket. Lynn Beach is to open July 1.

The commission has promulgated a rule which will be put into effect this year, limiting the time a bather may occupy the State bath house and the use of a bathing suit to two hours, in order to eliminate the beach "loungers" who has been in the habit of monopolizing the suit for hours, while hundreds waited in the heat.

Each bather will be given a ticket with the time punched on it when he receives his suit, together with a copy of the rules.

Today the commission announced the promotion of Lieutenant Spencer G. Hawkins of the Revere Beach division of the Metropolitan Park police to serve as captain in charge of the Revere Beach division.

EFFORT TO BUY GIRL OFF, VAIN

Money Failed to Tempt Jennie Zimmerman, Peter Balkin Testifies at Her Trial

Springfield, May 20.—How Dr. Henry Zimmerman tried to bribe Jennie G. Zimmerman to leave Springfield following her betrayal was told today by Peter Balkin, a friend of the Zimmerman family, upon whom the accused girl looked as a second father.

He told of going to the office of Dr. Cornell, the murdered man's brother-in-law, in an attempt to get justice for the girl.

"Dr. Cornell listened to my story," he told the jury, "and then asked me if I did not think that Jennie would be willing to leave town for a few hundred dollars.

"I went back to Jennie and told her of the doctor's proposal. She looked me in the face and became angry. She said 'Do you think, Balky, that I am a girl for money? All the money in the world can't buy me.'"

"I returned to Dr. Cornell's office, but before I had given him Jennie's answer to the proposal he informed me that they had changed their minds and decided that Jennie could go as far as she liked. Tell her,

Filene's Automatic Bargain BASEMENT
UNDER MAIN FILENE STORE

Filene's annex
STREET FLOOR—2 DOORS FROM MAIN STORE

MEN!

We place on sale tomorrow in both stores, Basement and Annex, over $100,000.00 worth of men's suits at much below even pre-war prices. Filene's Basement has done some very big things before, but this out-does anything in our history. It's BIG because it lowers the cost of clothing so emphatically for so many men in all walks of life.

2564 of these men's suits were bought last week from a high-grade maker who didn't dare carry so much money tied up in them. It cost him about $20 to cut, make and trim (labor) alone on the least expensive of these suits. 47 mills furnished the woolens, and the woolens alone cost from $2.50 to $6.50 a yard, and it takes 3¼ yards for a suit. There are 213 different patterns and styles. The maker took a mighty big loss.

After we made this big purchase, we repriced lower over $40,000 worth of previous purchases, because this new purchase was so very much lower priced. It is the Filene Automatic Bargain Basement System that makes this sort of a thing possible, and so tomorrow when the doors of both stores swing open at the stroke of 9:

783 men's suits $19

At $19 there are all wool unfinished worsteds in blues, browns and greens, fine all wool cassimeres, long wearing all wool cheviots and a few flannels. Plenty of plain blues and light or dark grays, and almost any kind of a style. Alpaca or serge lined.

1526 suits $27

At $27, rich looking flannels in blues, browns and greens, tweeds with an imported look, smooth cassimeres, worsteds and shepherd checks. Alpaca lined and some quarter or half silk lined and silk sleeve linings. All wool, of course.

1088 men's suits $36

At $36, as fine woolens as we have seen in a long, long time at any price. Herringbone weaves, smooth cassimeres, fine blue serges, cheviots with an imported look, hard or soft finished worsteds, flannels of the better kind and Shepherd checks. Alpaca lined and some have quarter or half silk linings and silk sleeve linings. All wool, of course.

EUROPE GAINING, SAYS LIGGETT

Found Prosperity in Nations Which Have Lost Regard for United States

"America stands in the position today of having lost every thing we went to war for."

Such was the flat assertion today by Louis K. Liggett, president of the United Drug Company in an interview with the American following his arrival from Europe where he spent ninety days in investigating economic conditions.

Liggett said the United States has made an enemy of all the foreign speaking peoples and has lost commercially through what he terms "improper representation at the peace conference."

He declared that the people of Belgium are resentful in a marked degree over what they call the failure of the United States peace commission to make good its promises.

"I do not know the merit of this controversy. I am merely telling you what the Belgian people are saying. They claim that our peace commission promised to hold up the value of the German mark which the Germans had forced them to accept as currency during their occupation. The currency in some sections of Belgium, practically all of it, was German money.

"Italy claims that President Wilson has failed to keep his promises. This country has kept the value of the French franc down to six cents which precludes French trading with America. England has kept the value of a pound around four dolars which also militates against British trading with the United States."

FRANCE IS PROSPEROUS.

After summing up briefly the European situation, President Liggett covered the ground in his travels with greater detail. He said:

"Let's take up France first. In some business circles in this country France is extremely discredited industrially, both because it had to stand the brunt of the war, and because the American people are afraid of strikes in France and afraid that the Socialist movement is gaining too great a headway.

"The facts are these. The people here do not realize the fundamental strength and recuperative power of the French. They do not realize that 80 per cent. of the French people are engaged in agricultural pursuits and only 20 per cent. in manufacturing. These 80 per cent. own from one thousand to ten thousand francs. What chance is there for the Bolshevists or the Socialists ever amounting to anything in France when nearly every citizen is a capitalist? France is prosperous.

SUGAR SHORT EVERYWHERE.

"It is absolutely true that sugar is selling in England today at the same price it is here plus freight charges and the sugar tax. There is a sugar shortage the world over. China and India are denuded of sugar. I believe the reason for this is that before the war there was a world supply for one year of sugar on hand. The war used up this entire supply and the production was halted.

"The economic conditions in England are very good. England has a gold reserve of about twenty-eight per cent, and money is plentiful. There is general prosperity and work for everyone. English workmen with greater wages are moving into more spacious quarters, and the housing problem which has become acute is being met by the government in a somewhat novel manner. All nonessential building has been ordered stopped on June 1, when the government will set the carpenters and other building trades workmen at work building homes.

"England has kept the value of the pound under four dollars as a means, in my belief, to prevent trading outside. England cannot stand on a free trade basis and meet competition. The government takes the next best step to a tariff and keeps the pound down so the merchants cannot buy from America. At the present time all that they are buying from us are necessaries of life, principally food products.

"With the opening by the British of the oil fields in Mesopotamia and their purchase of the Shell Oil Company, I believe will result in a large reduction of their purchase of gasoline and oils from this country.

"I am of the opinion that the increased production in the agricultural lands of Europe and the consequent decrease in the export of food products to Europe will balance the crop shortage which is generally predicted for this country. So while the crops may be reduced the exports will also be reduced.

"STEEL PIRATES" TOOK $30 FROM EVERY FAMILY, SAYS EXPERT

LABOR GOT SHORT END

W. J. Lauck Declares Profits of 18 Companies Reached Nearly a Billion

Washington, May 20.—Heavy profiteering of the big steel interests, which in war time alone amounted to $750,000,000 for eighteen leading companies, or a levy of $30 on every American family, was exposed in a study of profits in the iron and steel industry, filed with the United States Railroad Labor Board by W. Jett Lauck, consulting economist of the railroad unions.

Increases in the prices of basic iron and steel products were shown to approximate 300 per cent. since 1914.

The survey shows that eighteen American steel companies increased their net income of $74,650,000 for the period 1912-1914 to $237,500,000 for the period 1916-1918, or almost four and one-half times the pre-war average. These companies, said the report, made a total of more than a billion dollars, of which some $750,000,000 represented excess profits over pre-war conditions. The per cent. of return on capital stock also more than quadrupled, rising from an average of approximately 6 per cent. to approximately 26 per cent.

NOT DUE TO PAY ADVANCE.

"The tremendous increase in the price of steel during recent years, said the survey, is not attributed to advances in wages. After war-time increases in wages had been met, the labor cost per ton of finished steel was only 41 per cent. higher in war time than during the pre-war period, as compared with an increase in net profits per ton of finished product of 220 per cent. The increase in gross sales and earnings was equivalent to $62.90 per ton of output, or approximately four times the increase in total wages and salaries per ton.

"For every dollar paid in salaries and wages," said Mr. Lauck, "the net profits of the corporations available for dividends increased from twenty-eight cents for the pre-war period to sixty-five cents in 1917. At the close of 1918, the corporation accounts showed that for every additional dollar paid to labor, approximately 11 per cent. more was available for dividends than had been on an average during the pre-war period."

AVERAGE MAN MUST PAY.

Mr. Lauck declared labor had no equitable participation in the gains of the steel corporations, pointing out that the labor right was restricted in order that the overcapitalized steel companies might reap exorbitant profits and continue to create values in their fictitious securities. He added:

"An increase in the cost of steel billets and steel rails is as serious to the average man in his struggle against the high cost of living as an advance in food or textiles. Iron and steel, in a direct way, enter into all the purchases of the householder, and the price of iron and steel becomes a part of the price of almost everything he buys."

Suffragists Ready to Raid Convention

By International News Service.

Washington, May 20.—If Delaware again fails to ratify the suffrage amendment, a great army of women will sweep upon the Republican convention in Chicago "to demand the reason why," militant suffragists announced today.

Thousands of women throughout the country, "outraged and ready for action," are waiting for the rallying call, "On to Chicago," said Mrs. Benigna Green Kalb of Texas, secretary of the Farm Women's National Congress.

"I shall walk to Chicago if necessary," said Mrs. Kalb, "and thousands of other women are willing to do likewise. We shall need no invitation to go into the convention. We shall walk in without permission and turn it into a suffrage demonstration. As a Republican I am ashamed of my party."

STORE 500 TONS OF SUGAR HERE

Cargo Due in Boston Today to Be Hoarded for Some Unexplained Reason

Coincident with the raise of sugar a cent a pound, it is announced that the cargo of 500 tons of refined sugar due in Boston today from Philadelphia on board the American steamer Ocmulgee, will be unloaded at the Charles River docks and placed in the Charles River Stores. Why the sugar is being stored in place of the already shortage is a mystery.

Most Boston stores are selling sugar for 24 cents while in smaller cities the prices are even higher. In Brockton 28 cents per pound is demanded.

The steamers Levisa, from Preston, with 5,544,000 pounds of raw sugar, and the Plainfield, from Baker, with 7,360,000 pounds, are expected to reach port today.

NEW YORK STILL 'DEN OF EVIL'

3,000 Girls Run Away Every Year, Says Social Worker, to "Wicked City"

New York, May 20.—Three thousand girls, all under twenty, run away from their homes every year to New York.

This means that every time the hour hand mile around the face of the clock at Grand Central Station nine little girls, most of them hardly out of their teens, timidly ask for tickets and ferries and set their faces toward the illusory promise of this city.

Miss Maude D. Miner today told about those 3,000 prodigal daughters.

"NO GIRL IS SAFE"

She is secretary of the New York Probation and Protective Association, which works in conjunction with the missing persons bureau of the police department, the District Attorney's office, and various welfare organizations, to help girls.

The association maintains "Waverly House," through which more than 1,000 girls passed last year.

Miss Miner said:

"The white slave traffic flourishes within this great city of which all America is so proud.

"The activities of the human vultures who carry it on are kept under cover to an extent. But no young girl, isolated from the care and protection of home and guardians, is safe in New York."

WHY GIRLS LEAVE HOME.

These are some of the reasons, according to Miss Miner, why girls leave home:

Quarrels.

Ill treatment by step-parents.

Loss of positions and fear of consequences.

Luring promises of men.

Unequal Americanization of foreign parents and their children.

And of all the reasons, she said, the last is the most serious, because it occasions more alienations of girls from their people than any of the others.

The tragic circumstance is that in many such cases the girl is justified in running away.

WHITMAN GIRL LOSES HER HAIR

Whitman, May 20.—A "Jack the Clipper," who has an assistant and travels in an automobile, was being sought by police and private citizens today, following an alleged attack upon pretty Frances Buckley, nineteen-year-old telephone operator.

The men waylaid the girl on Auburn street, she said, and terrorized her with a revolver and clipped her hair after they had bullied her into taking it down.

Miss Buckley's attempt to scream for help, she claimed, was frustrated by shoving a handkerchief into her mouth.

Both men apparently were foreigners, the telephone operator informed the police. As soon as they had secured her hair they ran to an automobile they had standing in a side street and escaped.

MISSING NASHUA GIRL IS SOUGHT IN BOSTON

Missing since May 12, Yvone Rioux, fifteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Rioux of Nashua, N. H., is thought to be in Boston. The girl is large for her age, five feet three inches tall, weighing 125 pounds, light complexion, blue eyes, small scar on upper lip, wore dark clothes and dark blue straw hat. She always professed a desire to be a governess for children.

47,000 IN LYNN FACE LAY-OFF

Big Factories Can't Get Supplies Because of Shortage in Freight Cars

Lynn's 185 shoe factories, employing 30,000 operatives, face a general shutdown unless railroad conditions improve within a few days. It was learned today that many of the factories have already begun to curtail production because of transportation conditions.

Unless the railroad situation is speedily straightened out the General Electric Company, employing 17,000, will also be affected.

The situation is due to the impossibility of getting raw materials.

William H. Day, executive secretary of the Lynn Chamber of Commerce, said today that the Boston & Maine has refused cars to get materials into Lynn.

10,000 Union Electrical Workers Ready to Strike

Armed with authority to order an immediate walkout of 10,000 employes of the General Electric Company, international officers of the Machinists and Electrical Workers' Union arrived in Lynn today.

Whether a strike will be ordered depends upon a union vote now in progress. Both sides are busy strengthening their positions in the event of a walkout.

Union heads were attempting to persuade the 2,000 unorganized workers to stand by their unionized associates.

Scores of private detectives have made their appearance on the streets, apparently acting for the company. These men are armed and carry clubs and leaders and tried to keep informed of the activities of the international officers.

OPERATIVES AT SALEM GRANTED WAGE RAISE

Operatives in the Naumkeag Cotton Mills and Bleachery at Salem have been notified that there will be an increase in wages in all departments.

Sixteen hundred employes are affected. The increase will aggregate $300,000 for the coming year.

"Sallies'" Drive Here to Be Kept Going

The drive for $170,000, Boston's quota in the Salvation Army's Home Service Fund appeal, while it officially ended today, will be carried on until the amount asked for is obtained. Colonel Adam Clifford decided on this course when he saw how the eleventh hour subscriptions were coming in.

The Boston campaign headquarters, No. 67 Milk street, will be kept open until June 1.

"Boston," said Charles L. Burrill, chairman of the committee, "seems to be following its habit—it is coming along in great shape at the eleventh hour. I believe Boston will contribute the sum allotted to it."

One important phase of the drive is the continuation of the work of the prison department, which comes under the Home Service Fund. This branch provides prisoners with books, concerts, picture shows, and secures work for the men after they leave prison. The army officials fear this branch will have to be dropped unless the full quota is obtained.

Leading through four innings, the sophomore girls' nine of the College of Liberal Arts of Boston University was unable to make another run, while the freshmen's batting rally rolled up a dozen runs, making the final score 13-11 in favor of the 1923 students.

The game, played at the recreation grounds at Riverside, was the chief attraction of the all-day and evening picnic.

Helen Fanning and Viola Byam were the freshmen batteries, while their sophomore opponents in the box and behind the bat were Esther MacCormac and Marion Pickles. The teams were composed of the following:

Freshmen—Dorothy Hagan, c.f.; Helen Fanning, p., Viola Byam, c.; Marjorie Hamer, r.f.; Ethel Shaver, l.f.; Catherine Perkins, 2; Esther Ruoff, 3b.; Marion Shaughnessy, 1b.; Helen Regan, s.s.

Sophomores—Scottie Watson, 1b.; Constance Darlingtower, 2b.; Marie Ellis, 3b.; Helena Cronin, s.s.; Marion Sherburne, l.f.; Frances Laughrea, c.f.; Leona Hagan, r.f.; Esther MacCormac, p.; Marion Pickles, c.

In the afternoon the freshman and sophomore men combined in defeating a nine representing the juniors and seniors, 5 to 3.

The only accident of the day occurred when the canoe in which was James Moynahan, the tallest man at the College of Liberal Arts, capsized. "Jimmy" played the drums nevertheless for the evening's dance, attired in a heavy sweater and borrowed trousers.

The committee in charge of the day's program included Nora Hester, senior; William Duvall, junior; Homer Hunt, sophomore, and John Henley, freshman.

TRIES TO FLOAT TO FREEDOM

Deer Island Prisoner Picked Up in Harbor, Paddling Away on a Log

Onnie Elkill, a forger serving an eighteen months' term at Deer Island, attempted to escape from a working party on Long Island last night by floating away on a log. His short trip for liberty was halted when Captain Cecil Bethell, of the tug Wright, picked him up near Long Island.

Today Elkill is back at Deer Island serving punishment duty for his pains. He spent last night at the East Boston Police Station, denying his identity and insisting that he was Herbert Kling, from parts unknown. Today Captain James F. Hickey identified him.

Elkill is said to have been a member of the band of letter box thieves, who, after cutting mail boxes in apartment house halls, removed checks from letters, forged indorsements on them cashed them. He was arrested in a spectacular roundup of undesirables made by police inspectors several weeks ago.

It is the custom at Deer Island to send working parties of prisoners across the harbor to Long Island for such labor as is needed there. Elkill was a member of such a party. Yesterday he managed to secure a log in some manner, and when no guards were looking slid it into the water and attempted a freedom dash.

SPAULDING TO OPPOSE MOSES FOR SENATE

Rochester, N. H., May 20.—Former Food Administrator for New Hampshire Huntley N. Spaulding of Rochester has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States Senator at the September primaries, against Senator George H. Moses.

CALL MILITIA TO QUELL RIOTS

Seven Detectives and Mayor Among Those Killed at Matewan, W. Va.

Charleston, W. Va., May 20.—Two companies of State troops were rushed to Matewan, Mingo County, today, to suppress trouble which has followed the killing of twelve men in a labor war there.

The entire State militia has been mobilized by order of Colonel Jackson Arnold, commander of the State Department of Public Safety.

Seven of the men killed were members of the Baldwin-Phelps Detective Agency, and two were members of a newly-organized coal miners' union.

Cabell Testmen, Mayor of Matewan, was wounded mortally, and several others were injured.

Matewan is a non-union district adjoining the Guyan Valley district, where serious trouble occurred a few months ago when efforts were made by union organizers to invade the territory.

The fighting took place in the streets near the Norfolk & Western Railroad station.

Former employes of the Stone Mount Coal Company, who are said to have been discharged for union activities, are said to have opened fire on the detectives who were waiting to take a train. The detectives started to run, firing as they did so. They were shot down to the last man.

The miners and their families were bitter against the detectives because they were engaged in evicting families of men who had joined the union from property owned by the coal company.

Col. Jackson Arnold, superintendent of the state department of public safety, was today assembling the state constabulary from all parts of the state.

One detachment left its headquarters at Nitro for Matewan before midnight.

Selma P. Ganter of Brookline vs. Arthur R. Ganter; charges desertion, and asks for the custody of the two children.

Laura Serani of Lynn vs. Ezio Serani of Quincy; charges cruel and abusive treatment.

Yentye DeYoung vs. Singa S. DeYoung; charges unfaithfulness.

Joseph Bracia of Weymouth vs. Elizabeth Bracia; charges desertion.

George M. Ross of Worcester vs. Gertrude M. Ross of St. Johnsbury, Vt.; charges desertion.

Annie Haynes of Quincy vs. John Haynes of Savannah, Ga.; charges desertion, cruel and abusive treatment and intemperance.

YOUTHS SENTENCED FOR JEWELRY THEFT

Caught in New York disposing of jewelry valued at $2,800, alleged to have been stolen from the home of Mrs. Bertha Tobey, No. 221 Shurtleff street, Chelsea, James O. Low, twenty years old, brother of Mrs. Tobey, and Millinio Lapore, twenty years old, of Broadway, Chelsea, were each sentenced to three months in the House of Correction by Judge Cutler in Chelsea Court today. Both appealed.

PRICES CLOSE TO PRE-WAR RATE

stock markets, where prices in many stocks fell off today.

Charles F. Weed, vice-president of the First National Bank, today said:

"Money is too tight to let it get into risky speculation. Banks are not doing all they can to make the supply go around among their regular customers and they must give a good reason for granting the credit. I believe the talk of great supplies in storage has been overdone."

CANNOT TAKE A RISK.

Herbert K. Hallett, president of the Fourth Atlantic National Bank, said today that he did not know of a loan made by his bank on goods held off the market for speculative purposes.

"Of course," he said, "we must lend on goods in storage to insure a supply next Winter, and that is necessary.

"I do not believe there is a great deal of merchandise and food stored for speculative purposes. The situation at present is too precarious and in self preservation men are not taking the risk."

Addison L. Winthrop, vice-president National Shawmut Bank, said his institution was guarding against credits to non-essential and too speculative lines.

Frank H. McCarthy, New England organizer of the American Federation of Labor, today stated: "Wages of the workers in a great many New England trades and industries must be increased above the present level even though there is a material reduction in the cost of the necessaries of life." He declared that organized labor could not stand a cut in wages, however, he could not state how much of an increase would be required to bring the standard of wages on a level with the cost of living.

Food Prices Still High; Luxuries Costing Less

New York, May 19.—Advertisements today give convincing proof of the comprehensiveness of price declarations in retail lines except food. Cuts ranged from 20 to 50 per cent., with the largest reductions occurring in commodities classified as luxuries.

Food remains high, but people must have it and must pay the prices demanded.

The current deflation is attributed to the trend to economy that took possession of the public several months ago.

Some specific effects follow:

Furs are selling in Fifth avenue for $75 which were held for $100 several weeks ago. Shoes that were selling for $15 are now offered at $11.50. A woman's suit priced at $245 may be had now for $178.50.

Men's clothing has dropped in proportion. Blue serge suits that were $35 are advertised at $25. Palm Beach suits have dropped from last year's price of $20 to $12. Clothes that sold for $40 are being offered as low as 21 cents.

Unheard of bargains. Clothing merchants and dealers in ladies' wear here have announced cuts in prices of from 10 to 50 per cent. Dresses that have been held at $32 are offered at $18.50, and negligees have been reduced down from $60 to as low as $30. Women's hose have dropped from 75 cents to 29 cents. Cotton goods, formerly 45 cents a yard, is being sold for $2.

Men's ties that had been selling for $60 are going over the counter for $25 and $35, and shoes of standard make that had been selling for $12 and $15 are being sold for $7 and $8.

General Price Slashing Sweeps Over Country

OMAHA.—Managers of Omaha stores who slashed prices on their goods from 20 to 50 per cent. said today the volume of business in their stores has increased in some instances as much as 200 per cent. Some managers reported an increase comparably to the Christmas season rush. Two more stores today announced a 33 1-3 per cent. reduction on their entire stocks.

WASHINGTON.—Two men's furnishing stores here today had large advertisements announcing reductions in prices. One store advertised a cut of 25 per cent. and another 15 per cent. Charles J. Columbus, secretary of the Merchants' Association, said that the general reductions were partly due to the unusually late Summer season.

INDIANAPOLIS.—Silk shirts for men were cut 20 to 50 per cent. here. One establishment advertised silk shirts at $4.95 that formerly sold for more than twice that price.

TERRE HAUTE.—A 20 per cent. reduction on all men's and boys' clothing and shoes was offered by one of the largest department stores here.

YOUNGSTOWN.—The largest department store here announced a general reduction of 20 per cent. on all goods. Other stores advertised most of their stocks at 20 to 50 per cent. less than former prices.

EL PASO.—A general reduction of 33 1-3 per cent. in the price of shoes and 25 per cent. in the price of clothing has been made by large stores here.

SAN FRANCISCO.—General price cutting in textile materials, hats and furnishings continues. One firm here sold its entire stock at reductions as high as 40 per cent.

LOS ANGELES.—A wholesale millinery concern announced it would sell its $1,200,000 stock at retail at a 50 per cent. reduction.

DENVER.—A general price slashing movement has begun in Denver. Many department stores announce sales at a 25 per cent. reduction.

CLEVELAND.—Local dealers here advertised sales at reductions of 15 per cent. and upward, beginning tomorrow.

TENARKANA.—One large store announces it would sell $12 shoes for $4.85 a pair.

COLUMBUS.—One large store announced a general reduction of 33 1-3 per cent. and another advertised a half-price sale in all departments.

CHATTANOOGA.—Practically every store in the city is advertising 20 per cent reductions on all but contract goods.

KANSAS CITY.—Richard S. Hawes, president of the American Bankers' Association, declared at the annual convention of the Missouri Bankers' Association that the bankers of the country were determined there should be no more $25 shoes and $150 suits.

SPOKANE.—One large merchant here announced a general reduction of 15 per cent. on all dry goods and clothing.

FRESNO.—General reductions of 20 and 25 per cent. on all goods were announced by merchants here.

PHILADELPHIA.—Prices of clothing, shoes and general merchandise are being reduced 20 to 30 per cent. by leading merchants here. Newspapers are carrying full page "sale" of those sales.

CHICAGO.—Bargain and "Why wear overalls?" sales are general at many of the large stores here. Clothing and shoes are being sold at a 25 per cent. reduction. Food prices have fallen, but fruits and meats are priced but slightly under former prices.

DOUBT STORY OF GIRL THAT SHE WAS KIDNAPED

Providence, May 20.—The story of Annie Smith, aged eighteen, who was found bound and gagged on Douglas avenue, and who claimed to have been kidnaped by six men in an automobile, was discredited by the police today. The police said they were confident that Mary Vincent, said by the Smith girl to have been carried off with her, was a myth. The girl was questioned at police headquarters.

DENVER NOW BOASTS 256,369 RESIDENTS

Washington, May 20.—Preliminary population figures were announced today by the Census Bureau as follows:

Denver, Col., 1920 population 256,369; increase since 1910, 42,938, or 20.1 per cent.

Elizabeth N. J., 1920 population 95,642; increase since 1910, 22,273, or 30.4.

New London, Ct., 1920 population 25,688; increase since 1910, 3,029, or 20.7 per cent.

Tacoma, Wash., 1920 population 98,965; increase since 1910, 13,222, or 15.8 per cent.

Ware Stores Return 20 Cents on Dollar

Ware, May 20.—Some local dry goods stores are helping to cut the high cost of living this week by giving back to their customers 20 cents for every dollar spent, and the public in general is taking advantage of this chance, for which it has waited three years.

CITY IS HIT BY RAIL TIEUP

Unable to Get Coal and Flour and Bidders Are Holding Back

The city of Boston is unable to get its annual supply of coal and flour for public institutions.

Only one bid was received in response to an advertisement of the schoolhouse commissioners for the erection of a court and a half-story addition to the West Roxbury High School. John Bowen was the bidder and his price of $233,533 is $75,000 above the appropriation. Other contractors refused to bid, declaring they could get no fixed price on materials because of the railroad situation.

Purchasing Agent George J. Cronin has been empowered by Mayor Peters to enter into contracts without advertising for temporarily supply the wants of public institutions for flour and coal. This action was deemed necessary when advertisements failed to produce any bids, the dealers in both commodities declaring the market is too uncertain to permit of quoting prices.

The schoolhouse commission will advertise Saturday for new bids for the West Roxbury High School addition and for a two-story addition to Michael Angelo School in the West End. These bids will be opened June 4.

50,000 Freight Cars to Move

By International News Service.

Washington, May 20.—The nation's railroads today unified their efforts to relieve many thousands of empty cars, as the principal move in relieving the freight jams at all terminals. This work is a preliminary to other far-reaching moves.

Relocation of empty cars means the movement of 20,000 cars from Eastern territory, and 30,000 open cars from Western sections.

Railroad executives told the commission today that the task can be completed in thirty days, possibly less.

While slight improvement is shown in freight conditions of New England roads, according to local railroad officials, the conditions are still very serious and additional industrial plants are threatened with forced suspension.

Largest movements of freight through the gateways were reported by the Boston & Maine, Boston & Albany and the New Haven roads.

LEE PORTER, GUILTY, HELD FOR SENTENCE

Lee Porter, a Back Bay interior decorator, well known in art and musical circles, was found guilty one day by a jury in Superior Court of maintaining a nuisance at his apartment at 1 Commonwealth avenue, West End. He was held in $3,000 bonds for sentence. His attorney, Arthur Ahearn, said that he would call Porter and Charles DuMoulin, actor of a wealthy Southern family, were in court to testify in behalf of the girl for which the police of the Joy street station and naval intelligence agents took part.

ACCUSE ENGINEER OF STEALING FROM U. S.

Charged with stealing and carrying away government property, Charles E. King of Corey court, Everett, was arraigned today before Commissioner Hayes. He pleaded not guilty and was held in $500 bail. King is an engineer employed at the army base. It is charged that he took from the storerooms supplies consisting of rope, canvas, nuts and oak beams valued at $20.

THREE MONTHS FOR INSULTING GIRL PICKET

In Beverly Court, Joseph Gilbert, an employe of the United Shoe Machinery Company, was sentenced to three months in the House of Correction for insulting Rose Dandurand of Salem, a strike picket on duty outside the plant. He appealed and was held in $500 bonds for the Superior Court.

GLASS OF WATER AFTER ASPIRIN

Bayer Company, who introduced Aspirin in 1900, give proper directions.

The Bayer Company, who introduced Aspirin, set in their careful directions in each package of genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" that to get best results you must drink a glass of water should be drank after taking tablets.

"Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" to be genuine must be marked with the safety "Bayer Cross." Then you are getting the genuine, world-famous Aspirin, prescribed by physicians for over eighteen years.

GERMANS CALL HYTHE 'BLUFF'

Say Big Indemnity Talk Is Mere Politics; France Must First Let Down Trade Bars

By YVES GUYOT.
(Noted French Economist).

Paris, May 20.—The Hythe "solution" of the question of an indemnity total is merely an expression of French wishes. It is not founded upon reality. France had better realize that she must work out her own salvation independent of a commercial indemnity.

Paris, May 20.—Ex-President Poincare's resignation from the chairmanship of the Reparation Commission, coupled with an exclusive statement by the German delegates here to Universal Service to the effect that the talk at the Hythe conference of a $5,000,000,000 indemnity total was "the merest bluff, designed to deceive the people," lends strength to the belief that the French financial position as regards the immediate future is not at sound as optimistic politicians are trying to make it appear.

As a matter of fact, the real position is roughly outlined, as follows:

"LUCKY TO GET HALF."

Germany last year would have paid 100,000,000,000 marks in gold as reparation provided she had been allowed to keep upper Silesia, which is the most productive region of all Germany. But the Allies refused the German offer. Now the German delegates in Paris officially state that without Silesia Germany cannot possibly pay that amount, and add that the Allies will be lucky if they get half that sum.

Moreover, Germany's ability to pay, her representatives argue, depends largely upon her free admission to the markets of the world. But France is against letting down the bars and resuming trade with the Germans except under hampering restrictions. To these restrictions the German delegates to the economic conference just arrived in Paris, say it is impossible to agree. The spokesman of the German delegation made this statement to Universal Service.

FRANCE NEEDS GERMANY.

"Unless France allows us to resume commerce with her on the pre-war footing, we shall refuse to supply her with goods which she needs thus forcing her deeper into a position where the exchange will sadly react on her economic situation.

"France should realize that she, in her present financial condition, has more need of Germany than Germany needs her."

The "Marry Month of May"

THAT'S what O. Henry whimsically called it. The month when lilacs fill the air with fragrance.

The month when Everybody's fancy turns to thoughts of love—love of Nature, of Home—made beautiful with new furnishings—and to the wonderful love that makes new homes.

The month when the clever home-maker plans for new beauty and harmony, for color schemes that rest and soothe, for furniture pleasing to the eye as well as giving comfort and service. Good furniture develops taste and ideals. Refinement grows from "living with" lovely things.

Beauty need not mean expense. Many lavishly furnished houses lack the "homey" air, while inexpensive homes have frequently a compelling charm. It is the home where beauty and enduring quality are appreciated, that Moller takes pride in furnishing. It is such homes that the Moller Credit System makes possible for the limited income—the young man on a moderate salary or the older folks who know it is wise to keep their savings invested and pay for their new furniture in convenient weekly or monthly payments.

The Moller Credit System bears no relation to that of the ordinary credit furniture house. Our system is added, you have the benefit of cash prices. Prices are guaranteed to be lower quality-for-quality than that at any Boston store—and you receive the consideration which "charge customers" are always accorded in the better stores.

Get Boston prices first—then make your comparisons at Moller's.

SIX MINUTES FROM THE HEART OF BOSTON
A LITTLE TRIP THAT LEADS TO BIG SAVINGS

JORDAN MARSH COMPANY—The Mercantile Heart of New England

Something We Never Have Done Before and Probably Never Will Do Again—

We present a Sale at the Very Height of the Season with

Values Positively Equalling
Those of Our Famous January

Birthday Sale

Remember that until now Birthday Sale Values have never been equalled even by ourselves except during that famous January Event

Here Is An Exact Copy of the Instructions Given by the Firm for This Sale:

"Each item selected for this sale must be marked down to a price at least 30% less than its original price. Exceptions will be made in White Goods, Hosiery, Knit Underwear, Cottons, Blankets, Linens, Boys' and Men's Clothing; items in these lines must be marked down at least 25% from original prices.

"Items selected for this sale which have already been marked down must be further reduced at least 15%. If this additional reduction does not make a total reduction of at least 30% from the original price, then the second reduction must be great enough so the total mark-down equals at least 30%."

PARTISAN EVIL IN FILM BILL

Judge Brackett Scores Censorship by "Office Boys" and Prejudiced Element

"Don't give office boys the right to censor films," said Judge J. Albert Brackett to the Senate Ways and Means committee.

"That is just what would happen under this bill to establish a State censor over the motion pictures. No one censor could view all the films which come into the State, and clerical employes would be telling the 4,000,000 people of this State just what they may see and what they may not see."

Judge Brackett said that pre-publicity censorship violates the inherent right of the American citizen to free speech, free assembly and a free press.

"The partisan and arbitrary censor," he said, "could form any kind of an excuse to prevent the showing of a picture which was obnoxious to his own ideas of public policy or which might offend the clique with which he happened to be training.

"A concerted movement to 'regulate' the films has been started in thirty States in this country during the year, but this is the only State which has dignified the autocratic movement."

STUDENT OFFICERS GO INTO CAMP NEXT MONTH

Over twelve hundred of the R. O. T. C. will leave for Camp Devens, June 12, for training in the infantry, and 160 for Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., for training in the cavalry service.

The Third Infantry of Maine, National Guard, will be encamped at Camp Devens, June 19, and Second Troop of cavalry from Rhode Island at Fort Ethan Allen, on the same date.

Arbolene Tablets Is the Treatment to Be Used. Proven Safe and Sure

Hundreds of thousands of tubes of Arbolene Tablets have been marketed in the past five years and not a single case has ever been reported of their being deleterious in any way, on the contrary, many are grateful and write letters similar to this one, which was received from Mrs. Lulla Richards, Pittsfield, Maine:

"Dear Sir: Two years ago I tried Arbolene Tablets. It not only relieved me, but cured my headache and heart palpitation, and removed that bloated feeling. Recently my weight again increased. I began Arbolene again and one box reduced me from 189 pounds to 132 pounds, and I feel so much better. I shall continue until my weight is again normal, etc."

'BLUEBEARD' KILLED WIFE WITH ROCK

This is the fourth chapter of the confession of Guy C. Rational alias Harvey Burdell alias Dr. Bluebeard alias Landru alias Guy Chester Hamilton, self-confessed slayer of 10 women, and question of District Attorney Woolwine of Los Angeles.

CHAPTER IV.

Q—What were the circumstances of killing Miss Andrawartha? A—We were walking along Lake Washington where there is practically an island. Just seems as though an impulse — and I threw her down, or rather pushed her right in the water and held her there. Then I took a stick and pushed her right in the water off where she went off into deep water. In this case, I don't remember hitting her before pushing her in the water. The quarrel, we had was about where she wanted to live or didn't want to live. She went to the bottom of the lake, so far as I know.

Q—Isn't that the one you said was recovered? A—That is the case of Betty Price—Elizabeth Price.

Q — Now, do you remember the drowning of any other woman in Lake Washington? A—One other, yes.

Q — What sensation had you experienced after the drowning of Miss Andrawartha? A — Well, it seems to me ordinary. Just seemed a sensation of ease, in a way, as if I had done wrong and was relieved. I wouldn't say intense exultation, just something like well done. In other words, instead of remorse, I should have had, seems like, might say positive satisfaction or passive pleasure.

KILLED ONE WITH ROCK.

Here he gives the details of his marriage to Bertha Gondolfo, whom he married under the name of H. L. Gordon, North Dakota. This is his answer to a question about killing her.

Q—We were in Seattle. We went around the lake and driveways and we were out on the lake discussing some things, and just reached an impulse came over me and I hit the girl without any great provocation—while there might have been some words—while she was in view. That is, I had to hide the body near the lake, and then later went and got a boat and sank the body.

Q—What did you do here with? A—A rock—just grabbed up a rock. Often he is asked about his marriage with Elizabeth Prior at Coeur d'Alene. After preliminary answers he said:

HAMMER HIS NEXT WEAPON.

A—I bought a second-hand car, and after we started out in it for Seattle from Portland, we had quite a little trouble with it and had to stop several places. She was quick tempered and kept after me about buying a second-hand car. We stopped by a shack by the side of the road. She kept on, and at last I told her to keep her mouth shut—something of the kind—that she had said enough. She said, "I will stick this pin through you," and grabbed her hairpin. There was a hunk near with sharp corners. When she grabbed that hairpin I pushed her just as hard as I could and she went back. Her head struck the corner of the hunk.

Q—And you went outside to your automobile and got a hammer or a ring you of 7 to 14 hatchet? A—I think it was a hammer. Something just seemed to tell me she is killed, the best thing to do is to finish up as soon as possible and do something with the body.

Q—Had you previously during your life with her those desires to kill her? A—I may in a light way, but fought it off.

Q—Now, when you stripped the body, what did you do with the clothing? A—Later I burned it in a shack.

(Here he tells as published, how he then burned the shack to obliterate signs of his crime. The testimony here turns to Agnes Wilson, one of his other wives. In an earlier confession he told how he pushed her into the lake with an oar).

Q—Where did the killing of Agnes Wilson occur? A—In Washington. We were in Seattle. We went out on the lake—we had been there several times.

Q—What did you do with the blood, if any, on the car? A—There was no blood. She had a hat on. The car seemed to daze her and kind of paralyze her. I believe I threw a rock at her or struck at her while she was in the water.

Q—Did they strike her head? A—Yes. Like I threw three and I think they did because I was right on the edge of the water, and I came up close and it was a rocky shore.

ICE WEIGHING BILL REJECTED BY SENATE

After a brief statement by Senator Knox of Somerville to the effect that he believed the legislation unnecessary the Senate rejected the bill to compel the weighing of ice by a vote of 20 to 14.

SS. PETER AND PAUL COURT TO HAVE BIRTHDAY FETE

At a meeting of SS. Peter and Paul Court, M. C. O. F., of South Boston, plans were started for an elaborate celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the organization of the Court. The event will take place on Wednesday, June 23, in Bethesda and Bernice Halls, West Broadway, and will be commemorated with a banquet and dance with many additional features. Prominent men in the order throughout New England will be guests of the organization and will address the members and guests. Chief Ranger John L. Deveraux is chairman of a committee made up of past chief rangers composed of the following: John A. Curran, Henry Brennick, Peter F. Curley, Joseph F. Geary, William Jefferds, Thomas F. Murphy and James F. Grady.

HOLD FUNERAL OF EGAN, YOUNG ROXBURY HERO

Funeral services for Joseph T. Egan, who died from injuries sustained when he swerved his motor truck on Parker street, Roxbury, to avoid running into a number of children, were held today from his late home at No. 85 Longwood avenue, Roxbury. A solemn requiem high mass was celebrated at the Mission Church by Rev. Thomas Gilhooly, at which delegations were present from St. Patrick's Court, M. C. O. F., and also from the Beacon Chocolate Company, by whom he was employed. Burial was in Mt. Benedict Cemetery. Prayers were said at the grave by Rev. Ambrose Walker of Marblehead, a cousin of the dead youth.

VA[illegible] ASSAILS MAYOR PETERS

Condemns Him for Failure to Attend Elevated Wage Inquiry Before Board

Mayor Peters was severely criticised by Attorney James H. Vahey today for his recent refusal to testify in the carmen's wage hearing, which was concluded today before the Elevated arbitration board.

Mr. Vahey, who is a member of the board, is counsel for the carmen in their fight for 95 cents an hour and one day off in seven, with pay.

In his closing argument he condemned the attitude of the Mayor during the hearing, accused him of "playing to the galleries" and exhibiting "anything but good taste."

Mayor Peters at the last session of the Arbitration Board refused to obey a summons to testify as to wages of firemen and other city employes. This testimony was desired as showing that the demands of the carmen were not excessive.

"Active as the Mayor has been in many roles he does not condescend to make himself a witness," said Attorney Vahey. "He does not venture to come here. He does not show the same boldness in facing this board that he displayed in publishing his personal opinion of this controversy."

In his argument Mr. Vahey declared the carmen were entitled to 95 cents an hour, and said that the very least the board could do was to give them 75 cents, the rate in Cleveland.

He maintained that the Elevated had not proved beyond doubt that an increase in wages would necessitate a higher fare.

"But even if it should, that is not the question," he declared. "The question is one of wages, not fares. Are these men entitled to a living wage?"

H. Ware Barnum made the final argument for the Elevated. He declared the question of increased wages must be settled with the public in mind, as "the Elevated is only representative of the general car riding public. He maintained that carmen's wages had risen faster than the cost of living. Quoting from Elevated documents, he said that the average pay of an "El" employe was between $1,700 and $1,800.

He held that the action of the Cleveland transportation companies in granting 75 cents an hour to employes was not a fair comparison, and cited instances which he said showed the difference.

What Will Happen in Chicago Convention Depends on Man Nominated

By International News Service.

Washington, May 20.—"The platform in this convention must be the man nominated in this convention," George W. Perkins, right-hand man of Theodore Roosevelt, declared prior to the 1916 Republican convention. This was in substance the decision of the Advisory Committee on Policies in session here, the members of which left for their respective homes today. Nothing definite was settled.

What will happen in Chicago is problematical, and the committee can do no more than submit certain platform material.

If Senator Hiram W. Johnson runs away with the convention, the platform will be one thing; if General Leonard Wood is winner, it will be another; if Herbert C. Hoover, something else again; if Senator Warren G. Harding, or Governor Lowden, or Governor Coolidge, or ex-Senator James E. Watson, or a dark horse, the platform will assume a different shape still.

Beautiful Actress Attributes Her Wonderful Success to Her Famous Complexion

Tells How You Also May Have One

MISS DOROTHY DALTON

New York—When Miss Dorothy Dalton, the beautiful actress who was selected for the leading role in that mammoth New York production, "Aphrodite," was questioned as to the secret of her phenomenal success, she unhesitatingly said, "My complexion." When asked further details she explained: "Every one of my friends always raved about the texture and coloring of my skin, and I have no doubt but that my first engagement was made possible through the reputation I had acquired for a beautiful complexion. Managers are like ordinary mortals, they admire a beautiful skin as much as anyone, and in selecting their stars they naturally prefer those whose complexions are attractive. I think the best asset any girl or woman can have is a beautiful skin and complexion. It is easy to have this if one will spend only a little time to take the care of the skin. A girl may have radiant health, but if she possesses a beautiful complexion she will attract attention anywhere. I am always glad to tell any girl or woman just how she may secure a skin like mine. Here is the recipe: Night and morning cleanse the skin first with warm water; then apply a good cold cream. Ilasko cold cream I have found to be the best. Allow the cream to remain on the skin; take off the superfluous cream with a soft cloth. Then before going out during the day or evening apply the white, pink or flesh powder generally used, which can be purchased at the toilet counter of any up-to-date drug or department store. The first application of this wonderful Derwillo will astonish you. It imparts instant beauty to the skin and makes a rose-white complexion—every one will talk about it. I find it excellent for my complexion as it protects my skin in all kinds of weather. That's why I prefer it to all other toilet preparations and am never without it. Now that short sleeves are in vogue you will want beautiful hands and arms. There is nothing like Derwillo for this purpose. Many of my professional friends to whom I have recommended Derwillo use it in preference to all other face powders or beautifiers." Just try it once before going to the theatre, dances, parties or an afternoon call and note the favorable comments of your friends. Derwillo instantly puts a life-like tint on your cheeks and defies detection. It takes the place of face powder and stays on until you wash it off. Perspiration does not affect it nor will it rub off on clothing; it also prevents the nose and face from shining. It's wonderful for a dark, sallow, rough skin, blackheads, coarse pores, oily skin, freckles, tan and for the instant beauty it imparts. Over 100,000 girls and women are using it. It's absolutely harmless to the most sensitive skin. Just try it once and you will need no further recommendation to convince you that there is nothing "just as good" or better; so if you like it, insist on Derwillo, then you will not be disappointed.

Note—Druggists and department stores everywhere sell Derwillo with the guarantee that if you don't like it you may have your money back. It is the one beautifier that gives satisfaction at all seasons of the year. You can secure it at all drug and toilet counters in Boston and vicinity.—Advertisement.

ATTEMPT TO BRIBE ZIMMERMAN GIRL IS CHARGED

Jennie Angrily Refused Offer of Money, Her Friend Since Childhood Testifies.

Dr. Cornell said, that if she makes public her intimacy with Dr. Zimmerman or threatens to have him arrested, we shall have her sent to Northampton."

The witness told of his friendship for the accused young woman, how he had known her since childhood and how she had been a frequent visitor at their home since she reached womanhood.

WENT INTO HYSTERICS.

He described Jennie's actions on the night when she first informed him of the attack in the doctor's office. "Jennie was calling on my wife and me. She seemed disturbed," he related.

"Mrs. Bolkin asked her why she was not with Dr. Zimmerman that night and at the mention of his name she started to cry.

"She became hysterical and for a quarter of an hour or more was unable to control herself. Finally she told us everything. She also showed us a letter she had just received from him. It was the letter that was exhibited at the trial and told of his decision to break up their friendship."

Bolkin then told of going to Dr. Zimmerman in an effort to persuade him to marry his cousin. "Tell her not to worry," the witness stated the doctor said. "Tell her everything will be all right. I will see her myself tonight."

Dr. Zimmerman admitted to me at that time," he testified, "that he had been intimate with Jennie, but he said that he could not marry her and that she could not force him to as no witnesses could be found who had heard any such promises to make her his wife.

"In the Spring of 1919 Jennie came to my home and complained of feeling ill. She said that life held nothing for her and that she wished she was dead.

"She started to cry and then surprised me by taking a revolver and a box of cartridges from her pocket. 'Take these,' she said, 'for I don't something might happen tomorrow and I shall be dead.'"

REJECTED CHANCE TO WARRY.

He also described how the young woman on one occasion gave up an opportunity to marry another young man "because of her alleged betrayal by the man she is accused of murdering.

"I called at her house one night," Bolkin testified, "and I found her entertaining a young man who worked at the same factory that I did in Chicopee Falls. He is an honorable boy.

"Next day at the factory he came to me and asked me if I would tell Jennie that he loved her and would like to make her his wife. I took the message to Jennie and she began to cry. 'Do you think, Bailey,' she said, 'that I could look another man in the face? You know that I am a ruined girl. I could not consider marriage under such circumstances.'"

Under cross-examination the witness explained that he went to Dr. Zimmerman on behalf of his cousin because he wanted to save the doctor's reputation. He felt grateful to him, he said, because he had saved his wife's life. He denied that he had approached Dr. Cornell with a proposal to give Miss Zimmerman $600 to leave Springfield.

The accused girl was recalled to the stand and questioned by District Attorney Wright. She emphatically denied that she said to a Mr. Gilbert: "If I can see Dr. Zimmerman crippled for life my revenge will be satisfied."

Q.—Did you say to him that you would go away if you had money?

A.—I never discussed my personal affairs with him.

Q.—Didn't you pay $75 you received from your store accounts to Mr. Bernstein instead of to Dr. Zimmerman?

A.—No. Mr. Bernstein was the man who bought the goods and it was he to whom I gave the money.

CONSTIPATION

DR. CALDWELL'S Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that quickly relieves the congestion of undigested food and poisonous waste matter, and restores the normal regularity of natural action. It does not gripe or cramp and is as safe and pleasant for children as it is effective on even the strongest constitution.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the indispensable family remedy in thousands of homes and is sold in drug stores everywhere.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling laxative in the world, there are over 6 million bottles sold each year, many who need its benefits have not yet used it. If you have not, send your name and address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 511 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

Dandruff Soon Ruins the Hair

Girls—If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Advertisement.

Women Need Swamp-Root

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Boston American.—Advertisement.

Jennie Crochets Baby Shoes as She Awaits Verdict

Springfield, May 20.—"One of the girls here taught me how to crochet."

"One of the girls" was a fellow-prisoner; "here," the Hampden County Jail; the speaker, Jennie Zimmerman.

A tiny pair of pink baby shoes, crocheted in wool, made a strange contrast to their surroundings. They represent the work of Jennie's leisure hours, the recreation she seeks when freed for a little respite from the ordeal of her trial as the slayer of Dr. Henry Zimmerman.

Not one, but many pairs of these dainty little articles has Jennie made; for there are not idle hands. Probably at no time in her life has she had so much leisure, such good and constant care, this girl who has spent her life thus far in care for others and the struggle for a livelihood.

WORKS FOR SOMEONE ELSE.

Her idea of diversion is this pretty work, done always for someone else. But there is a special sentiment about these little shoes.

"Booteen," by the way, is the technical name. No, it's not baby talk; it's mother talk. It means the first tiny socks that are put on little newborn feet too small to need stockings.

"Whom are they for?" Jennie was asked.

"For my brother's wife," she answered.

"And how old is the baby?"

A smile wondrously sweet and tender lighted up her face as she answered: "It's coming soon."

In that smile one saw the potential mother, whose status was thrice denied this girl, by her tragic story on the stand. In that smile one read what nature had intended her to be; the tender mother, passionately attached to her own, welcoming toil and self-sacrifice so long as they make for something constructive in the world. It was a touching smile, but Jennie didn't know that. Her mind was on the "booteen."

LEARNED IN JAIL.

"I've made quite a number of them," she continued, "for my various friends. I didn't know how to crochet until I went to jail, but I have done a great deal of knitting, especially while I was doing Red Cross work. Besides the baby booteen, I have made baby socks, and also larger socks, including some pairs for the Red Cross.

"I like to work, and would rather be using my hands like this than be idle. I read, too, sometimes, and then I wear glasses.

"Everyone at the jail has been extremely kind, and so have people outside. I didn't realize that I had so many friends."

As she talked of her handiwork, the strained lines which several days on the witness stand had written into her pale features relaxed, and one caught a glimpse of what must have been the real Jennie, before sorrow and disaster had stalked into her life. Her eyes brightened, her lips smiled. The sweetness and charm that first attracted the lover a few years since, are still here.

When Jennie is able to forget for a moment the dark events of the past few years of her life—and she is able to forget them, if ever, only in work and in merciful slumber—she shows, in smile and glance, that combination of sisterly and motherly qualities that years of "mothering" a brood of little brothers and sisters developed in her.

GIRL SHOWS THE STRAIN.

It is, in fact, a new experience for Jennie to be the subject of other people's care. Hers is one of those frail figures that, in spite of poor health, hard work and many handicaps, by sheer nervous energy manage to keep the family together and serve as the pivot on which the household machinery turns.

These years have told upon her; she shows it as she enters the court room each day, leaning heavily on the arm of kind Elizabeth Mahoney, the jail matron, who has been her constant attendant.

A very rare personality, this Miss Mahoney. No wonder that Jennie leans upon her. Whenever the prisoner's thin hand gropes for a moment's friendly comfort, Miss Mahoney's has a glass of water ready; when the Jewish prison chaplain draws near for a word of cheer, Miss Mahoney withdraws, that words of religious consolation may be for Jennie's ears alone.

One can easily imagine being sorry to depart from Hampden county jail, leaving Miss Mahoney behind.

NAVY GREATER THAN BRITAIN'S

Exceeded England's Force by About 100,000 Men, Says Secretary Daniels

Washington, May 20.—Enlisted and commissioned personnel of the United States Navy at the time of the armistice was greater than that of Great Britain, "which had been in the war much longer" than the United States, Secretary Daniels today told the Senate sub-committee investigating charges made by Rear Admiral Sims against his department.

"When the armistice was signed the navy contained 486,847 men and 21,194 officers, while the British navy, much larger than ours in fighting ships, was composed of 86,343 officers and 378,319 men," Daniels said.

"For the first time in the history of the navy we were enabled to create a reserve available for any emergency. This legislation was proposed by the Navy Department under my administration."

Speaking of the charge made by Admiral Fiske (retired) that Daniels did not ask for an adequate force for the navy in 1914, the Secretary said he based his recommendations upon the policy that had been in force for years. Daniels outlined his fight before congressional committees for additional ships, in an attempt to show he had wished to prepare for war.

The Secretary scored Captain Palmer for his statement before the committee that he had to "get around the law at times to get things done," and "feel that when I came before committees of Congress it generally was understood that I was willing to abide by the decision of Congress and abide by the law," Daniels declared.

CHOATE TO FIGHT EXPULSION

Southboro Legion Commander Claims He Is Victim of Unjust Treatment

Joseph B. Choate, commander of Southboro Post, American Legion, declared today that he has engaged counsel to fight his threatened expulsion from the Legion. He has been charged with "disrespect and disobedience" to Colonel Edward L. Logan, State commander, whom he charges with "playing politics."

"I am the victim of autocratic and unjust treatment," he said. "I am absolutely opposed to any selfish, self-seeking policy on the part of the American Legion. I am for a sane, restrained, conservative policy on the question of additional compensation to service men. I am in favor of adjusted compensation for men who suffered severe financial stringency through their service."

The committee which has been appointed to investigate the charges against Commander Choate will give a hearing May 24, which Choate has been asked to attend.

MACHINISTS STRIKE AT WATERBURY, CT.

Waterbury, Ct., May 20.—A strike of machinists and skilled workers in the factories began today. The first to leave work were 1,000 machinists and toolmakers at the E. J. Manville Machine Company. The strike is expected to affect practically every factory in the city.

VIRGINIA DEMOCRATS FOR SENATOR GLASS

Roanoke, Va., May 20.—Virginia Democrats will go to the convention at San Francisco prepared to cast their first ballot for Senator Carter Glass for President.

Cleanliness Victim Is Given His Freedom

Providence, R. I., May 20.—Anthony E. Durfee, who was placed in the Butler Hospital forty-five years ago because he was "too clean," was released today. Dr. G. A. Blumer testified at a hearing in the Municipal Court that the patient was capable of taking care of his own affairs.

A brain specialist in court said that Durfee was still suffering slightly from mysopobia. He has a penchant for extreme cleanliness.

A guardianship over his estate, which has been held by relatives, was ordered discontinued by the court.

A HOME-MADE GRAY HAIR REMEDY

You Can Make a Better Gray Hair Remedy Than You Can Buy.

Gray, streaked or faded hair is not only unbecoming, but unnecessary.

Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost, or the druggist will put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is easy to use, does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

MOTORMEN CAN WEAR OVERALLS

Employes of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company have voted to place in arbitration their demands for a maximum rate of seventy-five cents an hour, the eight-hour day, time and a half for overtime, Sundays and holidays and one day off in fifteen with pay.

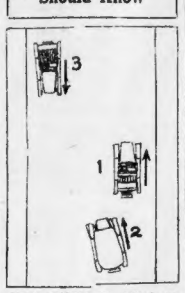
They accepted and ratified the working conditions section of their desired new agreement.

All of the company's motormen will be permitted to wear overalls and any increase in wages or differentials on the one-man cars shall be retroactive to May 1 of this year.

"GAS" FOR PLEASURE ON RATIONS SYSTEM

Fresno, Cal., May 20.—Sales of gasoline for pleasure cars were restricted to three gallons at one time by most of the large oil companies here, in order to assure agricultural interests and commercial enterprise adequate supply.

What Every Autoist Should Know



Many accidents are caused, especially at curves, by one motorist trying to pass another. For that reason, every autoist should know that he should always pass the car in front of him by going left. He has no right to pass if another car is coming from the opposite direction unless there is room for the three cars on the road. If another car from the opposite direction reaches a point abreast the first car and No. 2 tries to pass from behind at the same time, the driver of No. 2 is violating the State law and is responsible for any damage that ensues.

WOONSOCKET MILL ON THREE-DAY TIME

Woonsocket, R. I., May 20.—A cut in working time to three days a week has been announced by the Andrews Mill, Branch Village, employing 150 hands.

FIVE CALLED IN ROLLINS CASE

Woman Among Witnesses to Appear at Hearing for New Trials for Two

Five witnesses have been called before Judges Keating and Brown on Saturday at the hearing for new trials for George and Charles Rollins, convicted of murder. The witnesses include two police inspectors, a woman whose testimony is of the greatest importance, a sporting man who has not been seen around Boston for nearly a month, and a man with a long criminal record. Two, one now in prison will be brought to court.

The greatest stress in the plea for new trials will be based on the confession to the murders made by Jesse Murphy, now imprisoned in Pennsylvania.

Major Thomas L. Walsh and Judge Thomas H. Connelly, counsel for the Rollins boys, are confident that their case will be greatly strengthened by the testimony of the five witnesses.

Assistant District Attorney Gallagher may submit the various witnesses to a rigid cross-examination or he may take the stand that the Commonwealth's previous cases on the evidence offered and that if the additional evidence is subjected compliment it is for the court to decide.

They Save Teeth Now

In a New Way—By Ending Film

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

Millions of teeth are now cleaned in a new way. You see them everywhere—white, glistening teeth. Perhaps they are teeth you envy. Then make this simple ten-day test and find out how to get them.

The great tooth wrecker is a viscous film. You can feel it with your tongue. It is ever-present, ever-forming. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays.

The tooth paste does not end it. The ordinary tooth paste does not dissolve it. So it stays—much of it—and may do a ceaseless damage. Most tooth troubles are now traced to film.

Why Teeth Discolor

That film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. All these troubles are constantly increasing, despite the wide use of the tooth brush. And the reason lies in that clinging film, and brushing leaves much of it intact.

Dentists long have known this. They urge periodic dental cleaning to remove film and tartar. And dental science has for years sought a way to constantly combat film.

That way has now been found. Able authorities have proved its efficiency by convincing tests. Now leading dentists everywhere are urging its adoption.

For daily use the method is embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent—a modern, scientific tooth paste. Millions have already proved it. And a 10-Day Tube is being sent to anyone who asks.

A Way to Fight Film

Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to day by day combat it.

But pepsin must be activated, and the usual method is an acid harmful to the teeth. So pepsin long seemed impossible. But science has discovered a harmless activating method. Convincing tests have proved this. Now pepsin in this form can be every day applied. And in a tooth paste which conforms to every modern dental requirement.

Now you are urged to try it. Let it argue for itself. Compare the results with your present methods. Let your mirror tell the story.

There are few things more important. Bad teeth cause endless troubles. And teeth cannot be kept white, safe and sound if you leave that film.

For your sake and your family's sake, find out the way to combat it.

Results Are Quick and Apparent

You can see very quickly what Pepsodent does, and our book will tell you why.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how the teeth whiten as the fixed film disappears.

Once learn what clean teeth really mean and you'll always want them.

Mail the coupon to us today so you won't forget.

THE DEAF HEAR

Mrs. Catherine Waddleton, 122 Marlborough Road, Boston, Mass., writes: "For many years I suffered from nasal catarrh and chronic headache. My constant blowing noises in my head, and I noticed that she did not seem to hear me when I spoke to her. I HAD HAD TWO OPERATIONS PERFORMED ON MY THROAT AND NOSE, BUT IT DID NOT SEEM TO HAVE THE DESIRED EFFECT OF RELIEVING THE HEAD NOISES AND IMPROVING HER HEARING. I read so much of the Osmo-Chemic Treatment and had such great success in restoring hearing of deaf ears that I took Ruth to them, and their treatment not only relieved her catarrhal condition and headache, but restored her hearing. Do not delay as I did."

The wonderful power of the X-RAY TREATMENT is proved by the fact that it has accomplished wonderful results in cases of nasal catarrh, deafness, hardness, bronchitis, stomach disease, nervous disorders, skin disease, birthmarks, moles, facial blemishes, etc.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Don't stay gray! Nobody can tell when you darken gray, faded hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use. Everybody uses this, because nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after one more application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks lustrous, soft and beautiful. This preparation is delightful, too, and quite inexpensive. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

hates on record, the House of Representatives passed the rent bills unanimously reported by the Joint Judiciary Committee.

These bills are now up to the Senate, for action, and the body will probably take action on them tomorrow.

Two of the bills, one proving that landlords must furnish heat, light and other services called for in their agreements, and the other aimed to stop summary evictions and give the courts power to grant six months' stay of proceedings, passed—the former without comment, and the latter after a very brief debate over the adoption of an amendment.

Representative Nathan of Natick proposed the amendment through which the bill will apply to towns as well as to cities, and this amendment was adopted.

URGED RETROACTIVE ACT.

The bill providing that rent increase of over twenty-five per cent shall be oppressive started the main discussion. Representative Melody of Boston moved to amend it by having increases of more than twenty-five per cent since 1917 declared oppressive.

Representative Martin Hays, questioned by Mr. Tirrell of Weymouth, explained that the bill was the result of a compromise. "It would be impossible to frame a bill to suit everyone," he said. "This bill as it now stands met with the approbation and sympathies of the committee. I sympathize with the amendment suggested by the gentleman from Boston, but I believe it would kill the purpose of the bill.

"I don't believe anyone knows how much it is fair to increase rentals. [illegible] no where ten per cent might be excessive, and other cases where fifty per cent might be reasonable. Going back to 1917 may kill the bill. It is not possible to frame a law to cover every individual case. In every law there must be hardships for some. I believe that the bill should pass as it is written."

Representative Brown of Boston asked if the bill took into consideration increases in taxes.

HONEST LANDLORDS IMMUNE.

Mr. Hays said: "I want to say here that the vast majority of landlords are reasonable, fair and just. But there has grown up in our midst a species of rent hog, who is spreading his limbs over the communities of the Commonwealth. Taking advantage of the great shortage, he is the profiteers are getting in their deadly work. No landlord who is asking a fair rent has anything to fear from this bill."

Mr. Brown of Medford asked why there were no teeth in the bill, and why no provision is included to send offending landlords to jail. Mr. Hays replied that he had favored such a law. "My original act had such a provision. But being outdistanced, outwitted and outflanked in the committee, I bowed to my colleagues. The object of the bill is not to fill our jails but to stop extortion."

Representative Frost of Somerville objected to this bill. Representative Wright of Weymouth opposed the resolve question. Representative Dewey of Ashburnham said that twenty-five per cent is not an excessive increase in view of rising costs.

SAYS BANKS REAL LANDLORDS.

Representative Silsbee of Boston moved to amend the bill and secured unanimous consent, which was given, that a landlord may recover a fair rent. Mr. Brown of Brookline, said that lawyers, doctors and wage earners have doubled their income, and that the bill limited the income of the man whose wages are derived from rent. There is one question marks about the bill, and the previous question should not be considered, he asserted.

The previous question being voted down, Mr. Melody spoke in favor of his amendment. Representative Brier of Boston, said that the savings banks, co-operative banks, trust companies and investors are the landlords of the Commonwealth. The bill's first amendment would take the teeth out of the bill, he declared.

Representative Hurley of Lynn made his maiden speech, speaking on behalf of the bill, and was heartily applauded.

"This bill doesn't amount to a row of pins," declared Mr. Frost of Somerville.

Representatives Cowin of Dorchester and Silbert of Boston spoke for the bill. Representative Oberti of Haverhill said it is impossible to be too severe with rent profiteers, but declared the General Court could do nothing.

The act was then passed by a vote of 38 to 10.

The debate was marked by much clamor and by many personal references. Every few minutes the Speaker was obliged to rap for order, on one occasion he was obliged to exhibit a memory for personal references. Opponents of the bill made veiled attacks on the American Legion for inaugurating the campaign and organizing the Boston American Tenants' League, which brought about the bills, and upon Representative Martin Hays.

Opposition to the early remaining rent bill that authorizing cities and towns to provide shelter for needy inhabitants was started by Representative Young of Weston, who made a long speech on his objections to the measure. Under the bill, he said, Boston could loan $16,000,000 to private persons for building purposes without the approval of any court or other body.

Representative Hamburger of Boston moved to strike out the section of the bill permitting local officials to loan money to individuals for building purposes.

Representative Abbott said the Hamburger amendment would make it impossible to afford relief under the act. Representative Monk of Watertown said the bill offered great opportunity for chicanery. Representative Webster said he had little enthusiasm and some apprehension regarding the practical operation of the bill. Mr. Abbott agreed to the Hamburger amendment.

Section three, giving local authorities power to loan building capital to individuals was voted out. The bill was limited to February 1, 1922, the date when the rent of the rent legislation expires. The amendment of Mr. Monk of Watertown was accepted.

On a voice vote the nays won. On a rising vote there were 53 yeas and 49 nays. A roll call was ordered. It resulted in the bill passing by a vote of 127 to 65.

This is no trivial entertainment; it is a mighty drama dealing with a mighty topic of world-wide interest. It is safe to say that the opening night audience will remember the event for all time.
The great sensation has been awakened by the attention of New York for months, has started in Boston prior to its international tour. If you see it once you will see it a dozen times. No advance in prices. Not more than 3 tickets to any one person. Any attempt at speculation will be dealt with severely.
This is a play of the people's most cherished and sacred memories and those who have gone beyond. You may come a skeptic—you will go away convinced. Such has been the experience of thousands.

COYLE, FITZPATRICK AND URBAN ELECTED AT B. C.

Charles A. Coyle, '21, of Lawrence was elected president of the senior class of Boston College for the year of 1920-21 at the annual election. James J. Fitzpatrick, star athlete of the Maroon and Gold, and Louis J. Urban, captain of the 1920 football team, were chosen as vice presidents. Daniel Sullivan of Wakefield presided at the junior debating society, when officials are listed as John A. Sullivan of Somerville, secretary and J. J. Sullivan of Somerville, treasurer.

ANTHONY E. NAVIN FAILS FOR $90,710

Anthony E. Navin, merchant, who lives on Strathmore road, Brookline, worked for the city water department and filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy with the clerk of the U. S. District Court in Boston yesterday. His liabilities being $90,710.58, and no assets.

The Old Colony Trust Company is the only secured creditor, with a claim of $16,600 for real estate, principally on promissory notes. The next largest claims are listed at $5,828 for a balance due on a mortgage held by Mrs. Ellen Navin, mother of the bankrupt, and $1,300 and accommodation paper $7,500.

SEARCH FOR MISSING SPRINGFIELD MAN

Springfield, Mass., May 20—Police and workers in the city water department are searching today for Steven Pinsky, who left the clerk of the U. S. Employment office in the district court here Tuesday afternoon, and has not been seen since. Pinsky was helping to find the water works on Union avenue, near the dam, and it is feared that he tumbled into the swamp and drowned. He is about fifty years old and has a wife and six children.

WOMEN REJECT SUGAR BOYCOTT

State Conference Adopts "Old Clothes" Plan; Mrs. Baker Elected President

Springfield, May 20—Mrs. George [illegible] of Boston was elected president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs at the twenty-eighth annual conference, which began here [illegible] officers were elected as follows: Mrs. Louise [illegible] Mrs. Frederick J. Davis of Boston; Mrs. Mary [illegible] Mrs. Frank B. Hawley of Cambridge; Mrs. Henry M. Allen of Allston and Mrs. Amy W. Tenney of Marlborough. The demobilization of the federation's service flag and an organized in the auditorium [illegible] closing session.

One of the final acts of the convention was the founding of a scholarship to the Springfield International College in memory of Mrs. Lucy D. Pegnose of Somerville.

After a heated debate a resolution pledging each member to limit her use to as little sugar as possible and to serve no candy, ice cream and no sugared cake until [illegible] was adopted at the conference. The vote was extremely close. The principal point was that such a pledge would prevent profiteering charges to boost up prices of sugar, thus weakening the [illegible] against them.

BACK HEALTH BILL.

The conference, however, adopted a resolution in favor of old clothes usage until such time as prices may return to normal. Pledges were signed by practically all of the delegates, many of whom secured copies to present to their respective clubs. Yellow buttons inscribed with "Down with H. C. L." were distributed.

Among the important business taken up by the convention was an appeal to support the Health Education Bill. Increased pay for postal employes and appointment of more police women for protection of young girls were advocated by speakers.

How old can she be? Her hair is still brown

You have met her time and again—the woman whose loveliness never seems to fade. Her age is a puzzle to you, for the place that you look for the tell-tale marks of age—the hair—is still young looking, soft, beautiful, thick and lustrous. We are struck with envy, the secret we must be out. And as it is with that woman, so can it—and should it be with YOU. Say what you will, nothing puts a blight on youth and beauty as gray and faded hair. It is truly a woman's crown of glory—your chief charm—and you can't afford to ignore it. Now, by means of a few simple, harmless treatments with HAYS HAIR HEALTH, you can restore your hair to its original loveliness, bring back its former dark, natural shade, revive and stimulate its growth and stop it from falling out. It is not a dye, nor does it stain the scalp. Neither does it rub off or interfere with shampooing or waving the hair.

And the beauty of it all is that positively no harm can follow its use—either to your hair or scalp. HAYS HAIR HEALTH is sold at all drug and toilet goods stores.—Adv.

We Are Helping You Cut the High Cost of Living

We believe that now is the right time for us to take the first step to reduce the high cost of living. Manufacturers' prices are based on speculative values, rather than on present costs, and even some retailers are marking up their stocks to match these future costs. But the Prime Furniture Co. are REDUCING THEIR ORIGINAL LOW PRICES and striking a blow at the high cost of the every day necessities. We would be glad if other stores will follow, our lead and reduce their prices, for if all retailers will co-operate, public opinion will be brought to bear on those speculators who are boosting their prices and it will not be long before the cost of living will be materially reduced. Below we are illustrating a few of the values that we are offering to start this combat with the high cost of living.

You will be sure to find just what you need at a price far lower than you expected to pay, and the credit system at the Home of Dependable Credit enables you to secure for a small down payment any piece of furniture on our floors, and pay the balance in weekly or monthly payments without interest charges.

COURSE MAPPED OUT FOR THE RESOLUTE-VANITIE FIRST RACE

CUP YACHTS READY FOR TRYOUTS

Initial Tuning Up Event to Be Held Tomorrow on Long Island Sound

New Haven, May 20.—With the arrival here today of the race committee of the New York Yacht Club and the rival yachts, Resolute and Vanitie, the stage was set for the first brushes between the would-be defenders of the America's cup on Friday.

H. DeB. Parsons, J. M. McDermott and F. O. Spedden, who make up the New York Y. C.'s racing committee, mapped out a course today over which the tuning up races—a series of six—will be sailed. The course is just outside of the breakwater at Morris Cove, where the rival yachts are to be harbored while here.

The tuning up races will not count in the selection of the defender, as the official trials do not commence until June 3. These trials are to be held off Newport, R. I. The races, which start tomorrow, will see the yachts on even terms. The committee, it was explained, will make no time allowance for either yacht until after both have been officially measured.

The Resolute was the first of the cup yachts to reach here, being towed into the lower harbor early this morning by the tender Montauk, and dropping anchor inside the east breakwater off New Haven light.

TECH CREW OUT OF HENLEY, TO RACE UNION B. C. HERE

Tech has withdrawn her entry from the American Henley on the Schuylkill May 29 owing to lack of funds, Manager Steffian had previously accepted an invitation to send an eight. Tech varsity will row Union Boat Club Saturday on the Charles. The freshmen will race Noble & Greenough tomorrow.

FROTHINGHAM'S BAT WINS FROM WILLIAMS

A home run, triple and double were scored by Babe Frothingham, Harvard's left fielder, the first attempt scoring the winning run of the game with Williams in the last half of the ninth with one down. Both Harrison of Harvard and Holmes of the visitors were wobbly and were banched.

B. C. AND E. H. S. NINE BATTLE

Star School Teams Come Together Today on University Heights Diamond

By TOM POWER.

Boston College High and English High were to meet this afternoon at University Heights. Both nines are especially formidable, and the intense rivalry between them tends to make the game one of the classiest of the season.

English High is leading the city series league with a clean slate. H [illegible] defeated [illegible] Mechanic Arts [illegible] both teams are expected to [illegible] these games count for [illegible] in today's game.

Jimmy Cassell of B. C. and Bob Kiley of English High, the rival pitchers, are rated as the best in the city, and the battle between them was expected to be well worth watching. Frank Mooney and "Jumbo" Levenson, the battery mates, are also high grade performers.

The inner defence of the English nine is their strongest point after the battery department. Holsberg at first, Mesaligo at second, Captain Mike Spillane at short and Finnegan at third make a quartet that was after [illegible] the James street school some trouble.

The maroon and gold's best bet after their star battery is the outfield. Wilson, who alternates with Cassell in the box, Lanigan and McManus, are a combination that is hard to beat.

The Newton High golf team defeated Brookline High, 3 to 1, on the Allenarie Club links. Newton has matches with Watertown High tomorrow at Commonwealth; Brookline again Tuesday, probably at Chestnut Hill, and Harvard freshmen again a week from tomorrow at Commonwealth.

Curtis and Smith Stars at Shoot

L. F. Curtis was the star performer at the mid-week shoot of the Montclair G. C. He broke the first fifty targets without a miss and finished with a score of 94. R. C. Smith also broke 94, but did not have any run as long as Curtis.

The scratch trophies went to Curtis and Osborne, and C. A. Fisher won both handicap trophies.

QUESTION RECORD OF TECH SPRINTER IN "100"

The ten seconds flat which Al Hayes, Tech sprinter, turned in as a new record in the recent Harvard-Tech dual meet, will not be allowed to stand according to athletic authorities at the school, on account of the strong gale which blew at the runners' backs that day. The time was a fifth of a second better than the present Tech record for the century.

BIKERS TRY OUT NEW TRACK

Oval at Revere Ready for Grand Opening on Saturday Night

George Chapman of Philadelphia has the honor of being the first pacefollower to try out the new cycle track at Revere. The Quaker city star arrived yesterday at the beach and immediately got his wheels out for a spin. He pronounced the new oval the fastest in the country.

A number of other local stars and some of the [illegible] will [illegible] out last evening and proved a great improvement over the old plan. Every inch of the great surface is shown up with an even light, not a shady spot around the entire circuit, which will give the fans a view of the riders at all stages of the races.

Manager Butler reports a record demand for tickets for the opening races and reservations may be made by calling Revere 6178.

. . . and with college men

A fact:

Sales reports, carefully verified by undergraduates, show that at many of the leading colleges such as Yale, Harvard, Dartmouth, and the University of Pennsylvania, the largest-selling cigarette is Fatima.

Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

FATIMA
A Sensible Cigarette

—and the reason is "just enough Turkish"

It was college men who discovered "just enough Turkish." And while that was years ago, today college men are as loyal as ever to Fatima. The facts prove it.

Fatima contains more Turkish tobacco than any other Turkish blend cigarette—but not too much as do the expensive, straight Turkish cigarettes. In other words, there is "just enough Turkish" in Fatima to please the taste without "talking back."

PLAY FOR COUNTRY CLUB CUP STARTS ON CLYDE PARK LINKS

Field of Nearly 200 Tee Off in Opening Round of Tournament Today

BY ROBERT E. HARLOW.

The keenest medal play competition for amateur golfers scheduled for this season was played today at the Brookline Country Club in the qualifying round for the Country Club Cup which is being competed for for the first time since the war.

A field of [illegible] the sixteen players in the championship flight, which will compete in match play. It was necessary for [illegible] obtain a place in the match play [illegible] It will be in the State amateur champion[illegible] as thirty to qualify in the medal play, some [illegible] than 83 and [illegible] 82 would suffice to place a golfer in the cup flight. The first [illegible] went out at 8 o'clock and [illegible] Brookline hosts from that hour [illegible] the last one to tee off [illegible] twenty-four hours' duration.

State Handicapper Kept on Jump

Tom Hora, State handicapper, has some improvements to put [illegible] he can attend to. He is booked up for Brookline today and tomorrow and for [illegible] Saturday. Next week he goes to Belmont to get the women golfers properly in the championship [illegible] of the Boston Woman's Golf Association. This tournament [illegible] a very keen competition among the best [illegible] and Boston [illegible] Miss Elizabeth Gordon [illegible] Miss Gardner [illegible] pair for final [illegible] title.

* * *

The pairings [illegible] have nothing to do with the score one [illegible] It is a fact that France [illegible] recent meeting better cards [illegible] he plays with Thomas [illegible] the golf ball manufacturer, [illegible] was playing with Mr. Logan [illegible] Pine, got a 66 at Winchester [illegible] Mr. Logan's partner [illegible] a 68 at Belmont. [illegible] Evans and Mr. [illegible] are opponents. They [illegible] and go along [illegible] harmony and peace [illegible] scores are to be expected.

Worcester Golfers Try Out Boston Course

Billy Whitcomb and A. D. (Bud) Knowlton of the best players from the Worcester Country Club made their first appearance on a Boston course today when playing paired in the qualifying round of the Brookline cup tournament. Both have been facing the ball well at Worcester, he regularly [illegible] the 75 mark.

Did you know that only one foreigner ever succeeded in winning the British open golf championship the title which the American golfers [illegible] to [illegible] Taylor was the last one to turn the single foreigner to get [illegible] with it was Arnaud Massy, the Frenchman who beat a full field at Hoylake in 1907. Massy will be among the 1921 starters.

Pictures Show Miss Leitch As Real Champion

Pictures taken of Miss Cecil Leitch in her matches in the British Women's championship indicate that she was [illegible] her drives hard and that the [illegible] how exceedingly. She looks [illegible] a real champion. It would be pleasing to American golfers if Miss Leitch would come to America [illegible] but as Lufkin put our own champion Miss Stirling in the United States Women's championship at [illegible]

BARGAIN NIGHT AT FENWAY A. A.

Three 12-Rounders and Opening Six Offered on Tonight's Program

By JACK CONWAY.

Three twelve-round bouts for popular admission prices is sure to result in a large [illegible] of fans for the Fenway A. A. [illegible] Mechanics Building [illegible] special feature.

Lads Jhongi Chaney, New York, vs. Fred Jacks, British featherweight champion

Larry Ryan, New York, vs. Walter Mohr, Brooklyn.

Frank Conifrey, New York, vs. Phil Bloom, Brooklyn.

Six-round preliminary between local boys.

It is natural that interest should centre on the bout between Chaney and Jacks. These men are rated with the world's best 124 pounders.

Chaney a lad of twenty, is one of the new ring sensations. He first bobbed into the sporting limelight when he kayoed Joey Fox [illegible] So as to [illegible] four of twelve rounds. Frizzell has [illegible] prove that his victory was no fluke. Chaney went out and defeated Johnny Kilbane, Benny Valger and Bobby Josephs.

Jacks is one of the many foreign boxers now campaigning in this country. He has engaged in a number of bouts in New Jersey and Philadelphia, mixing with varying success.

Bloom Has Won His Last Six Starts

Conifrey and Bloom should furnish plenty of action. Bloom recently returned from England where he took part in four winning bouts. Since coming home, the Brooklyn lightweight has stopped Young Cohen and Marcel Donius. Conifrey is a rugged two-handed fighter and feels sure he is a match for Bloom.

There should be few dull moments when Larry Ryan of New York and Mohr begin swapping blows. Neither boxer can [illegible] Kilbane or Leonard for cleverness. But each can hit and is aggressive. And it seems that these are the assets the fans like to see placed on exhibition by our noble ring men. Ryan takes the place of Jerry Connolly, who has illness in his family.

The Coliseum A. C. of Quincy will stage another bang-up show tonight. Jimmy Priestli of Brockton and Cleveland Johnny Downes are booked to furnish the thrills in the feature [illegible] a horrid clip. Brooks Lowell, [illegible] been winning steadily for the past three months. His punching ability has enabled him to stop most of his opponents. The Brockton boxer advances the information that he will score with another knockout in a evening.

Downes is also looking for a quick victory. He recently stopped Charley Shoppert in the commercial club. He then hopped down to Brockton and outpointed Charley Parker of the South End.

Johnny Buckley of South Boston and Jack Mansfield who calls Lawrence home are booked to collide in the semi-final of eight rounds. There will also be two sixes.

Gardner Brooks Meets Young Montreal Tonight

Gardner Brooks will have a [illegible] and [illegible] when he [illegible] with Young Montreal of Providence in a twelve round bout at the Crescent A. C. of Lowell tonight. Montreal is the youth who recently stepped in and won a decision over Jack Sharkey. Jimmy Wilde saw Montreal win and declared after the match that the Providence bantamweight is one of the few real fighters he has seen since coming to America.

Brooks has prepared himself carefully for the mill. He [illegible] at Diamond Hill and reports that he is prepared to travel the full distance at a [illegible] clip. Brooks Lowell [illegible] and [illegible] are backing him to win.

THE YOUNG DIANA

An Experiment of the Future

Story of Extraordinary Mystery, in Which the Heroine Holds Key to Youth and Beauty

By Marie Corelli

EVENT near they took little leek-penche holidays abroad and they were fascinated by the extraordinary effect present in Paris They were fascinated by the extraordinary beauty of the city and women treated it as a joke and pretended to one another that it was all they might or meant to be But no man saw her without seeing her and deny admiration of a kind, as the saying is and I after one or two embarrassing experiences at various stations en route made certain of these women had not occupied the walk up and down the platform in their compartment just to show off their figure with one or the worthy dames suggested about Sandy, that per and I put up at the Grand Hotel and were glad to get there and the rough sea we were to had for the crossing

Diana never quite understood And for the rest of the journey she kept her head buried and face in Aunt Sophy's lap while unromantic sandwiches, blue water and the smell of smoke made up of her honeymoon

They crossed from Calais at night and reached Paris next day Dover Once in the train bound for London Diana's companions sought itself out in the one who she was Nobody's business and when Diana's head gave I am told a touch of nerves she seemed perfectly well and fresh I for example, on getting her manner was perfectly simple and natural But none her name quite frankly and added that she was quite a one in the world.

Tells of Friend

"I have no and Miss Sophy Lansing she said. "You may have heard of me She is leading suffragette and is also a writer I am go to her now

The ways a and at each other and smiled

"Yes we have heard of her" said our But I hope she will not make you a suffragette" Life has many better fortune a more for you I am that

"No there and Diana shrugged her graceful shoulders in differently animal I am interested in politics not at all They are simply a kind and quar relsome lot of the passing of midges on a war day

"One of her principal a low took out her cigarette

"I'm come and see me in town" she said kind I should be very glad if you would. I live a very quiet humdrum life and seldom see any young people"

Diana smiled as she accepted the card

"Thank you very much she murmured seeing at a glance the very good address Lady Norwood, Grosvenor square and guessing that was the fourth and dearest of the friends I must see during

And during forget me said the old I'll go round the corner and catch a few steps from Lady Norwood's house as we can come and see me as no

Diana expressed her acknowledgment by a nice reading on the second and two proffered Miss Carnegie and the address and cared

"Well Diana and we'll see you on mind you feel that these two good natured women were the nearest approach to an unselfish that perhaps you have met in the world so far and that they were going to make a and the rough sea we were to had for the crossing

Diana never quite understood And for the rest of the journey she kept her head buried and face in Aunt Sophy Lansing's fat in Mayfair, which she had left under such different circumstances close on a year ago. Miss Lansing was in said the servant who opened the door—and Diana had hardly waited in the drawing-room five minutes when there was a rush of garments and quick feet and Sophy herself appeared But the door she stopped the when

"There's some mistake she said at once you must have come to the wrong flat. I expected a friend —Miss May. You are not Miss May

Diana held out both hands

"Sophy, don't you know me" she said, smiling "Won't you know me" Sure you recognize my voice I'm Diana And in case from Paris that I was changed—I thought you were I understand——

But Sophy stood mute and bewildered, her hand against the door by which she had just entered For half a minute she felt she knew this lovely girl and yet she was that was Diana a special gift but what she thought a false presences, she was unreasonably annoyed, her annoyance was arresting though and would never have admitted it, from a helpless consciousness of her own inferiority in attractiveness.

"Nonsense," she said, sharply "Whoever you are you can't take me in! My friend is a middle-aged woman no older than I am—you are a mere girl! Do you think I don't know the difference? Please leave my house——"

As these words a delightful peal of it thing another broke from Diana's lips Sophy stared, indignant and speechless, while Diana slipped off a watch bracelet from her slender wrist

"Yes, well, dear" she said "if you don't want to know me, you don't Here is the little watch you sent me when I went away last year—after I was drowned. You remember" in place of the one which I'm glad to see you are wearing You know I took up a position with the Dr Feodor Dimitrius whose advertisement you sent me he wanted me to help him in a scientific experiment. Well—I did—and I am the result of his work I see you don't believe me, so I'll go I told the taxi-man to wait, I'm so sorry you won't have me

Puzzle of Watch

Sophy Lansing listened amazed and utterly incredulous That voice —that sweet laughter they had a fam at long, but the youthful features the exquisite complexion of clear cream and rose—these were no part of the Diana she had known and she shook her head obstinately

"You may have met my friend in Geneva she said at last But how could you get my watch from her I am at a loss to imagine unless she lent it to you to trick me with You, to whom I've always been generous paying a particular

But whoever you are, you are not Diana May"

Smilingly Diana laid the watch she had taken off down on the table

"Very well, I will leave this here she said "It is yours and when I am gone it will help you to remember and think all the circumstances You had my letter from Paris——

"I had a letter and Sophy recalled from my friend Miss May

Diana sighed again

I wrote it she said How dear it seems that you should know me And I thought you would be so pleased when you read I was going to be 'a wonderful creature,' and that underneath I should go on and Prince Bill and you too, won't recognize me!—I'm just as if you were jealous because I'm pretty I had as well explain before I go that for these years, for whom I've been working all the year, is one of those eccentric 'cranks' who think they can restore lost youth create beauty and prolong life Do you know you know He wanted a subject to prove upon—and as I was on earth I use to anyone he could find and turned me out as you see me all new and fresh as the morning' And I believe I shall get a long while"

ABOUT OUR GOOD FRIEND

Evans

Copyright, 1920, by The Ledger Syndicate

EVANS

VARIATIONS—Bevan, Bevans, Ivins, Ives, Jevons, Owens.

RACIAL ORIGIN—Welsh.

SOURCE—A given name.

EVANS, and the variations of this family name noted above, is one of the many hundreds, almost thousands, of names which have been derived through various methods of development from the name John, or rather from its original form, Chasnach, the Hebrew word for "grace."

Throughout all Europe, ancient and modern, pagan and Christian, there has never been a given name so popular as John The Old Testament is full of it, in one form or another The name of Hannibal who two centuries before Christ almost conquered Rome and changed the whole course of the world's history, was simply the ancient Carthaginian equivalent for John. Centuries earlier Carthage had been founded by the Phoenicians, who were neighbors of the Jews when they first enter the Promised Land

The Hebrew name Chasna combined with Jehova, "God, gracious" Jehohanan then Johanan, Johners John, Joan, Jon, etc The name appears in the ancient Greek mythology as Aenas.

But Evans comes to us modernized through Wales Johannes, passing from one language to another, became changed in spelling and pronunciation The "h" was dropped from the middle of the name, and a "v" was inserted between the "o" and the "a" When it is remembered that "j" was often pronounced as "y," and that even today in certain parts of England as well as continental Europe the sounds of "v" and "w" are virtually interchangeable it is not hard to see how the name became variously "Owan," Owen," Evan, Ivin and Jevon. Bevan, of course, is the contraction of ap Evan, or "son of Evan."

Mrs. Solomon Says—

By HELEN ROWLAND

Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

HEAR, my Son, the instructions of a Mother; for when Solomon sang of the Perfect Wife he drew inspiration from all the virtues of his hundred wives

Yet, in all his harem there was not ONE flawless woman

For lo, there was Trillah, whose voice was of silver and whose feet were lighter than the fall of almond blossoms—yet she wore curl papers under her boudoir cap and left her hair on the comb

And there was Musa, whose wit was more sparkling than wine and whose epigrams were more piquant than spices yet her tongue knew not weariness, and she would never STOP talking

And there was Grazia, who was fairer than the roses of morning and sweeter than a pomegranate yet she opened her vanity case at the restaurant table and powdered her nose in public without shame

And there was Jazza, whose mirth was as a Spring tonic and whose gayety was as sunlight on a meadow—yet her puns and poddings were ALL Night offerings"

And there was Vampa, whose heart was a sirocco, and whose kisses were as old wine—yet her jealousy was more intense than either, and her temper was exceeding Solshevistic

And there was Vesta, whose broideries were famed in the land and whose cooking was the poetry of viands—yet she caused Solomon to purge his feet before entering a door and made him to do his smoking in the kitchen.

And there was Zerah, whose gentleness and docility were praised by princes—yet her conversation was as the rattling of two tin cans or the buzzing of a phonograph with only one tune

And there was Eshra, who gossiped, and Zilla, who opened his letters and betrayed him With a Dulla board and Mara, who read Freud and bobbed her hair, and Zira, who borrowed his collars and owned a pair of Pekinese, and Jedda, who washed his pipe in soap, and so did his jewels in hot Summer furs and Shirlea, who assailed his ears morning, noon and night with innumerable QUESTIONS!

And lo, if Solomon could not find a Perfect Wife in seven hundred guesses, how shall any man hope to find one of these in only ONE guess?

Go to!

Some New Eton Effects

By Rita Stuyvesant

THIS Spring it is not at all difficult to take off ones fur wraps, for underneath there is something equally as attractive as the top coats that have done such beautiful service during the cold Winter months. Not quite a suit and hardly a one-piece frock are the newest Eton affairs, but one might say a little of both. Navy blue tricotine and fine twill, sashed in gay reds and brilliant greens, with perhaps a dash of the well-liked orange tones, form the color combinations for the new season

One model of this type is proving its popularity with the younger set and also with those wore mature women who still retain the slim lines of youth The skirt is accordion pleated, as nearly all fashionable skirts are this year, and set on to the narrow bodice in a lowing one, two and a half yards of material, for its width and then quite ff off at the bottom nine or ten inches from the ground To add the color note so essential to good dressing this pleated little skirt girdles itself with a broad sash of soft black satin blocked off in gold-threaded squares

Quite simple is the Eton that accompanies this skirt. Of course, it hangs straight and is cupped off at the waistline, and is all bound around with black silk braid. A lovely vest of sand-colored georgette crepe, finely tucked, is inserted in the front, and the short sleeves are completed with long white kid gloves. Just the frock that one will like for the first warm days, with a smart little hat and cunning short-vamp French ties, and one's fur scarf draped about the shoulders

For the woman who does not like the accordion pleated model there is a smart dress that combines pleats with straight lines and does it very well, too. The skirt is very cleverly cut, slightly circular and shows two box pleats both front and back

The Eton that is worn with this skirt is rather short and altogether sleeveless. But underneath there is an interesting overblouse of tan-lengis, fashioned of the new Dorada red lavishly embroidered in dark wool coin spots About the hips a silk cord, heavy tasselled, loops itself and completes a really charming costume

Parrot green georgette is the one bright spot in another Eton suit of navy tricotine A retching blouse of this gay color is neatly covered with a long-sleeved Eton jacket. The jacket showed a round collar of self-material with a dark silk bow tie at the chin. But the skirt was truly harem, with its long over tunic fully cut and its bloomer-like underskirt looped under at the hem.

When a Girl Marries

By Ann Lisle

"BIG baby I said indulgently "How my Jimmy does gloat over the idea of fa ing rich in the face of the whole Sturges Construction Company and how he does long for the old home," I added tenderly

"And how she does understand," replied Jim affectionately, giving me a warm hug. "Now to finish beautifying ourselves for the field daisy and Booth. By the way, who was with you when you met up with them"——

"Virginia" I replied, struggling with a snapper and watching the grace with which Jim slipped into a coat

Virginia" repeated Jim in amusement "What do you mean by chaining yourself off to lunch with her just after I tell you I've finished with that domineering

Down over to Jim and laid my hand across his mouth

"Dearest, it's your Jeanne you're talking about. She's made very furious, but you love her and things will be all right between you soon"

"With the" sneered Jim, "they will—not When Virginia Tatton begs my pardon for her darn high handed insolence I'll forgive her and not before And I guess she's as likely to come to me for forgiveness as she is to go on her knees to Pat——

"Miss Condon and Mr Booth" announced Bertha from the open doorway

"Oh, I should have been in the living room to greet them," I cried regretfully, and ran quickly to make up for my tardiness

In the living room I found Carl Booth immaculate in dinner coat and white linens, and Daisy Awed and dainty in an evening dress of yellow taffeta

Daisy Awed

Carl Booth, as Jim had imagined him, should, promptly on seeing his host in business clothes, have begun a stumbling apology for his own dinner coat

But the real Carl—the Carl I knew the nice, unselfconscious fellow who had big brothers me about the city—simply didn't give a second thought to a matter like that

He greeted Jim with unquestioning friendliness as man to man, and bolstered up Daisy a shy appreciation of our handsome apartment with cordial delight. Daisy seemed rather awed by Jim, and though he was punctiliously polite to the little thing, I knew he hardly saw her

Once dinner was announced and we were seated at the table, Daisy glued her attention on me in a matter of forks and spoons But she didn't venture a remark with out looking to Carl for approval And Carl seemed as indifferent to her presence as Jim was I wondered if he were really as indifferent to her as he seemed, and if she was as far from indifferent as she appeared

"It seems great to be sitting at your table, Barbara Anne," said Carl, with frank enjoyment. "And you have the kind of a cook or chef, or whatever they call 'em, who knows how to aid and abet a feeling like that."

"You always were a great hor to enjoy whatever was put before you." I replied, feeling myself sliding back on a tide of memory to the old Haldane days. "A fifty-cent table d'hote with red ink to drink used to make us pretty jolly, didn't it"——

"How we flung around our eighteen per!" laughed Carl "Remember the night we celebrated my jump to twenty-two fifty? That extra fifty made it seem like some sum," as Kate put it I guess we didn't include you in the jamborees in those-were-the-happy-days, Daisy"

"I guess I didn't count," replied Daisy, flushing dully.

"You were a kiddie," I said consolingly, fearing her almost [illegible] of the men from the magazine," replied Jim, almost awkwardly.

I knew I chuckled right out in [illegible] To think of my Jim, my [illegible] James Harrison being ill at ease in the presence of simple, unpretentious old Carl was comical—absurd But it was true So at this late date, Jim was [illegible] through some of the discomfort I had experienced over and over again when I tried to adjust myself to his world and to his friends.

[illegible] Daisy flung herself into the fate as Carl's champion, and I had to [illegible] just hard, little, colorless grain-of-dust Daisy was the first woman I had ever seen who remained entirely indifferent to my Jim's great charm. It was very en [illegible] that she didn't [illegible] magnetism [illegible] a most repelled

Included Host

"Thank you [illegible] these [illegible] Mr Booth [illegible] with the [illegible] effort to [illegible] make him [illegible] can add some [illegible] stuff I at [illegible] Barbara Anne" [illegible] her to that [illegible] where you appear [illegible] heart right [illegible]

"I believe she did say it was one [illegible] her and that Jim was beginning to be aware that this dear little thing disliked and feared him

"One of the men from the magazine" repeated Daisy mournfully. "Carl's the man of the magazine, every one says Why, he's advertising manager now, and we all know Mr. Haldane's going to make him managing editor the first of next year"

"Now, Dear" cried Carl good-naturedly "If you're looking for a fine little green agent, Mr. Harrison, don't apply to me for one I shouldn't know whom to recommend But you have lost touch with the old shop, haven't you Barbara Anne" he concluded turning to me suddenly with complete absorption that I couldn't direct or divert through the rest of the meal

At last! A New Idea in Talcum Powder!

Women Everywhere Are Talking

About a Wonderful New, Improved Kind of Talcum Powder

The specialist who created the popular La-may Face Powder has perfected a new kind of talcum. This new invention is two articles in one. It can be used for every thing for which talcum is now used, and it has double value in preventing the souring of perspiration. It is the souring of perspiration that people who perspire freely find so objectionable. Women who use this new talcum say it is wonderful for this purpose and that it is also an excellent high grade toilet talcum It is healing, soothing and delightfully fragrant Of course, it is called La-may It sells in the stores for only thirty cents. The package is also new The box is so attractive that it makes a beautiful dressing table ornament When you use this new La-may Talcum you will understand why it is almost impossible to get enough boxes to supply the great demand. If your local druggist has not got it yet he will cheerfully order it for you.

Why Castoria?

YEARS ago Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups were the remedies in common use for Infants and Children; Castor Oil so nauseating as to be almost impossible and the others all containing Opium in one form or another, but so disguised as to make them pleasant to the taste, yet really to stupify the child and give the appearance of relief from pain.

It required years of research to find a purely vegetable combination that would take the place of these disagreeable, unpleasant and vicious remedies that from habit had become almost universal. This was the inception of, and the reason for, the introduction of Fletcher's Castoria, and for over 30 years it has proven its worth, received the praise of Physicians everywhere and become a household word among mothers.

A remedy ESPECIALLY prepared for Infants and Children and no mother would think of giving to her baby a remedy that she would use for herself, without consulting a physician.

PUTS BLAME ON CORPORATIONS

Largely Responsible for Bad Condition of Boston Streets, Edwin T. Frost Says

"The corporations are largely responsible for the bad condition of Boston streets," said Edwin T. Frost, president of the Team Owners' Association of Boston, in praising the Boston American's campaign for better streets. Mr. Frost's organization includes 150 members, who control two-thirds of the teaming and trucking done in Boston.

"The main trouble is that the corporations dig big holes in the streets and then, after accomplishing their work, just fill them up without regard to the condition in which they found them. The corporations should be compelled by the city to fill these openings in a proper manner and leave them in the same condition in which they found the streets.

CORPORATIONS PAY INSPECTORS.

"If the corporations do not put the streets in the same condition they found them within a reasonable time after making openings, then the city should proceed to do the work and send the bills to the corporations. If Commissioner Sullivan finds there isn't enough law on the books to compel the corporations to put the streets in the condition they found them, it is time he tried to secure the passage of additional legislation.

"At the present time the inspectors who oversee the repair of these openings are paid by the corporations and quite naturally they favor the corporations and not the city. They should be paid by the city and be under the absolute control of the city officials. At the present time these street openings are not properly repaired and there is a lack of inspection.

"REGULATE REPAIR WORK."

"There should be more systematic regulations for such repair work. This repair work should be done at three different intervals. First, there should be temporary repairs following openings. Second, the corporations should make additional repairs within a month or two months. Final repairs should be made after the complete settling of the soil. It should be placed in complete condition as relates to the original pavement."

Mr. Frost says the members of his association have frequently discussed the condition of streets and agree with him in his contentions. The association members own 7,000 horses for teaming, in addition to their numerous motor trucks.

OILS IMPROVE, STEEL GAINS

Selling Pressure Relaxes in New York During the Morning; Trading Brisk

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks moved still weak in New York at noon, but the market had rallied to some extent and a number of issues were showing gains. They included U. S. Steel, Baldwin, Texas, Gas Petroleum, Pan-American, Royal Dutch, Union Pacific, Reading, New Haven, Baltimore and Ohio, Baldwin Car and Foundry and Corn Products.

They were up from fractions to more than two points. Meanwhile petroleum having advanced the most. Oils were the strongest group. Rails also showed some improvement. Trading was active, first hour transactions totalling about 400,000 shares. Call money renewed at 7 per cent.

Liberty bonds and Victory bonds were weak, almost selling at new low record prices. Business in those securities was of magnitude.

Foreign exchange was firm. Sterling exchange were demand sterling $3.85¾, at 10:52, francs 14.30 and marks .0225.

NEW LOWS FOR YEAR.

Prices receded from fractions to about three points at the opening and during the first hour. Among those to score or more losses said at the lowest prices touched this year, including U. S. Steel, which sold at 90¾. American Can, American Smelting, Boston Consolidated, Canadian Pacific, Central Leather, Crucible, International Paper, Kennecott, Pierce Arrow, Studebaker, Utilities Power and Light, Westinghouse, U. S. Rubber and Texas Co. Orders to sell came by wire from the country and brought about swamped feeble demand. Investors quit buying and held off to wait for indications that the liquidation had resounded. But the early decline today was not as drastic as the late one on Wednesday, within a few minutes some issues rallied. The market had been liquidated to such a degree that otherwise few foreign and small holders left and present possessors of stocks as a rule have too much capital and property to be easily shaken out. This was a saving feature of the situation when the market opened.

CAUSE OF PRICE CRASH.

The crash in security prices is due to no particular current event, but is though the reduction of commodity prices contributed largely. Bankers are understood to be in no concentrative recently in granting loans that both manufacturers and merchants have been forced to reduce their prices to get cash. What Governor Harding says to the Federal Reserve Board said about the necessity of protecting credit increased the conservative spirit in financial circulation. It is worst in the West, where speculation has been rampant.

The improvement prevailing on Wall Street that Federal Reserve authorities will not advance the discount rate immediately but that it will be moved up by the end of the month. What bankers and business men would like Washington to do is to take immediately some step to relieve the railroad muddle. That would do more to impart confidence than anything else.

STRIKES COST COUNTRY TWO BILLIONS IN 1919

Strikes cost the country approximately two billion dollars last year, it is estimated by Vice-President Francis H. Sisson of the Guaranty Trust Company, in addressing the National Association of Manufacturers he placed the loss to labor in wages at about $723,000,000 and the loss to industry at more than $1-$5,000,000. He placed the blame for high prices partly upon the strike epidemic, and said also:

"The peculiar idea of deflation is some process vaguely conceived that will reduce prices so that one's income may buy twice as much as it does now. Those clamoring for a rapid fall in prices should bear in mind that drastic deflation will mean painful economic readjustment, with wide-spread unemployment and business distress would be features—as in Japan. The average man should remember that as much advantage in being able to buy twice as much for a dollar if he does not have the dollar."

BANKER PHELAN SEES NO PANIC PROSPECT

James J. Phelan of the banking and brokerage house of Hornblower & Weeks is of the opinion that under-production is a factor likely to prevent a panic or industrial crisis this year. He says the country is suffering from a labor shortage, testifying at least five million more laborers, and adds:

"I have no patience with talk of labor inefficiency; scarcity is the sub of the problem. Carnegie Steel reports seventeen records broken in twenty-five days; Endicott-Johnson is getting the output of twelve pairs of shoes per day where before the war it got only eight; the U. S. Steel Corporation is obtaining greater efficiency from its employes. These examples show that labor is doing its fair share these days."

Boston Banker Promoted

B. P. Nichols, formerly a Springfield and Boston banker, has been appointed assistant secretary of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York. He was born and educated in Springfield, Mass., and from 1901 until 1905 was employed by the institution for savings in that city. He remained for five years in the Five-Cents Savings Bank, also in Springfield. He then joined the staff of the State Bank Commissioner in Boston. In 1913 he came to the American Exchange National Bank as head of the new business department, and remained here until January, 1917, when he joined the Guaranty. Since December, 1919, he has been head of its general New England business division.

Copper Mining Reports

Chino Copper Co. reports for the first 1920 quarter net earnings of $800,727, equal to 89 cents a share. In the fourth quarter of 1919 the company earned $400,662, while there was a deficit of $173,442 in the first quarter of 1919.

PRICES LOWER IN BOSTON

Local Market Opened With Trading Quite Active; Curb Trend Is Downward

The Boston market had a weak opening, but initial declines were not large as a rule, although several showed substantial losses at once. Among these were Inland Creek, Old Dominion, Massachusetts Gas, Wood End, Carson Hill, U. S. Smelting, Simms Magneto and Western Manufacturing. They were off from one to three points. Other opening declines were Utilities, Maynard, Old Colony sold at its lowest for 1920 to date. North Butte was an exception to the general trend, starting unchanged and quickly making a small gain.

By mid-morning fractional lower issues included Mohawk, Senoca, Mexican Investment, Libby, Elder, East Butte, New Haven, United Shoe and Ventura.

No issue advanced a point during the early trading, but quite a few did make small gains were National Leather, Swift & Co., Swift International and Utah Consolidated Oil.

The market was more active than it has usually been during the morning. Coppers had little movement in any direction. Calumet & Arizona had a weak start, but showed improvement at close and Quincy & Shannon. Stocks called ex-dividend today were Copper Range Company, Granby Consolidated and Southern Texas.

CURB WEAK AND ACTIVE.

The Curb market was a little more active than ordinarily when it opened but with a more pronounced trend than usual. It was weak. Prices were lower at the end of an hour than at the start. Among issues active early in the session were Arizona Silver, Crystal, Imperial, Texas Ranger and Canada Copper. Strong stocks at the opening were United Verde Extension, Bongford and Homa.

At the end of an hour Boston & Montana was off 8 cents at 20, Arizona Silver 6 cents at 70 cents, Gulf-port 2 cents at 2 cents, Mutual Trust 4 cents at 33 cents and Tempiske 50 at 13 cents, while United Verde Extension had advanced ½ to 20½.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES

For the March quarter the Davis Daly Copper Co. reports receipts of $666,761, and disbursements of $465,476, leaving a profit of $195,385, equivalent to 18 cents a share.

The Utilities Oil Co. has declared an 8-30th barrel roll on Shaw C-4, Claiborne Parish, La., payable June 15 to stock of record May 31. The company's production for April amounted to 9009.378 after all charges. This is equivalent to 300.312 barrels per day, as compared with 258.306 or 258.3 barrels per day reported in 1919.

Penn Mex Fuel Co. will enlarge its Athol, Mass., plant by construction of both a new boiler room and manufacturing unit and increase capacity about 20 per cent. Its Long Pine Va. plant will be increased about 33 per cent. in capacity by the expenditure of $100,000.

The industrial properties controlled by the Rolls interests in Kansas, including the Rolls Hide Co. at Wichita, Wellington Lines, the Eureka Oil Co., the Kerwer Gas Co., the Rolls Packing Company have been sold by S. H. Rolls and a portion of the holdings of Col. Wade Ellis, Wellington, Kansas, the holdings cover over 17,000 acres of solidly fenced leases.

Demand for Motor Trucks

CHARGES HUSBAND TRIED TO KILL HER

Worcester, May 20.—Charging that her husband had tried to kill her and then fled with all her savings, Mrs. Carmela Gengarelli, of Bloomingdale court, sobbed out her story to the local police today. The wife is twenty-two years old and is the mother of four children. She said that two weeks ago her husband drew out their all, $1,400, from the bank and had since spent $200 of it. After attempting to choke her he went away with all the money, she said, leaving her without a cent to care for herself and the children. She was forced to jump from the window of their home to escape him, she said.

EAST BOSTON WILL PAY 25 CENTS FOR ITS SUGAR

Sugar prices in East Boston advanced 1¾ cents per pound wholesale today, bringing the price up to 25 cents. Last week the price was 22 cents. Retail dealers say that it will be necessary to charge 25 cents in order to make any profit. Retail storekeepers of the district today were buying it in bulk. The two-pound packages were bought by retailers at 25 per pound.

COOLIDGE FAVORS HIGHER INTEREST LEGISLATION

In a special message to the House Governor Coolidge recommended the enactment of legislation to permit gas and electric light companies to issue bonds and notes at a rate higher than 6 per cent. with the approval of the public utilities department.

MEASURES THAT WOULD CURE MOST OF THE TROUBLES AND TENDENCIES WHICH DISTRESS AND ALARM US TODAY

(1) To nominate for the Presidency by direct nomination and to elect by popular vote.
(2) To elect the Cabinet officers and make them responsible to Congress.
(3) To deprive the President of the power of patronage; to put all public offices as nearly as possible under Civil Service, and have appointments made by a committee of Congress.
(4) To elect Federal Judges, including the Supreme Court Justices, by popular vote.
(5) To apply the Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall to national matters.

Congress Should Do Justice to Our Letter Carriers

It would be a shame if Congress, which has wasted so much time in useless investigations, all for the purpose of political propaganda, should adjourn without doing justice to our letter carriers and postal clerks.

Our letter carriers are among the most efficient, courteous, accommodating of the whole great corps of public servants. There is scarcely a woman to whose home our letter carriers bring the mail who has not on frequent occasions enjoyed the benefit of the courtesy and the accommodating spirit which our letter carriers always exhibit. It has not been their practice to stand upon their duties narrowly. There is no finer body of men in public or private employment in the world than our letter carriers.

The failure to increase their wages somewhat to consist with the increase in the cost of living is nothing short of shameful. It will be a neglect of Congress for which both the Democratic and Republican parties will be to blame.

Increase in Textile Wages Grateful News

The announced increase of wages to 300,000 textile operatives in New England is grateful news to all intelligent people.

Good wages in great industries means prosperity, and everyone who isn't interested to see workmen's conditions improve, is interested to see general prosperity.

It is also pleasing to know that the increase came peaceably and without that state of war which destroys wealth by decreasing wealth and even stopping altogether its production.

Let us hope that those who are enjoying high wages will save as much of it as the constantly increasing cost of living will permit them to save. The irony of this wage increase business is that the incapacity of the government, or its infidelity, is letting profiteering run amuck, and letting it take the wind out of the sails of the workmen's prosperity just as soon as they begin to fill.

May New Members of Legion Add to Its Democracy

This is the week which the American Legion has set aside for a campaign to increase its membership. We hope most sincerely that it will succeed.

We hope that it will obtain more members and that those new members may add to the democracy of the Legion. We hope that all will join who believe that a war to make the world safe for democracy cannot succeed unless, in the peace that follows, the victories are consolidated. Remember that Napoleon once said that he did not care so much to hear that one of his generals had won a victory, but rather what he had done after the victory.

The American Legion by preventing itself from being prostituted to undemocratic objects can promote the interests of the country by promoting the interest of its own vast membership, for the object of statesmanship is the future in the country and the future of the country is the young men who were called to the service and who are eligible for membership in the Legion.

In this connection the American cannot avoid making a suggestion apropos of democracy in the Legion. There is a contest within the ranks of the brass band of the Legion over the question of expelling one of its members. We understand that the offence of this member is his opposition to one of the cherished and proper objects of the Legion.

If this is the only offence is it a proper ground for his expulsion? Is that not an exhibition of the kind of intolerance which has so much disgraced this country since the armistice and which culminated in the shame at Albany in that revolutionary act expelling the Socialists from the New York Legislature?

Senator Walsh's Profiteer Warning Is Timely

Senator Walsh has sounded a great warning to the country, that our institutions are being put in danger by the profiteers. It is one of the most statesmanlike utterances that the Senate has heard since the close of the war.

The facts upon which he bases his conclusions are not new, nor is his treatment of them new or remarkable, but the conclusions which he reaches raises the speech into the realm of statesmanship, because he has performed by this speech a statesman's function. In analyzing conditions and in drawing from them a prophecy of the future, he tells us what all those who are in a position to tap the channels of communication in the country know is true, namely, that the whole nation is up in arms against present conditions; that every day Socialists are being made in great numbers and that already a number of citizens have ceased to take for granted the fact that our economic and political system is the best, and are beginning to end the tame suspicion that there may be something in the Socialist criticism of system and something in the Socialist claims as to the character of the remedy.

Senator Walsh tells us that present high prices are not significantly due to underproduction or to labor costs. He declares that they are due to inflation and to profiteering. Inflation, he admits, is a necessary evil of the war. But he declares that the profiteering is all the more wicked and inexcusable on account of inflation because it increases the burdens of inflation.

The violation of the constitutional rights of our citizens for freedom of speech and right of assembly, and the ejection of the Socialists from the Legislature in New York, the failure of the administration to reduce the cost of living according to its promises, upon which the great railroad labor organizations suspended their demand for increased wages; the filling of the jails with men who had expressed honest opinions, which, right or wrong, did no harm, and were intended to be attacks upon recognized wrongs; and the failure to put in jail men who are stealing millions from the people and the division of responsibility between both great political parties for this failure; and the fact that political parties are a necessary part of our political institutions; and that the failure of any of the established parties to function, means the failure of a political system itself to function, all combine to shake the faith of the public in parliamentary institutions and in our present economic and social status.

Senator Walsh has not sounded the alarm too soon and it is not any more grave than the situation warrants. Mr. Walsh has rendered a great service. The importance of his service may well be measured by the space given to it in the newspapers.

Pickford-Fairbanks Forces Claim Divorce Will Be Upheld

IS the trouble which has been stirred up by the Attorney-General of Nevada over the divorce of Mary Pickford merely a tempest in a teapot? Has he been trying to create difficulties, which, like those of the movies, will turn out happily in the last act?

These are matters for the courts to decide, and yet there are not lacking legal experts who declare that the Attorney-General's attempts to dissolve the divorce of America's most popular film star will end in a fiasco.

Mary's lawyer, former Supreme Court Justice McCarran, is one of the ablest, most experienced lawyers in Nevada. It seems hardly likely that he would have managed the case as badly as the Attorney-General asserts.

At any rate, the Pickford-Fairbanks forces are confident that the divorce will be upheld. The facts upon which they base their belief and the legal opinions which, they declare, will put the Attorney-General in the wrong, appear exclusively in the next Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Is Geraldine Farrar's back too suggestive? This is the question to which reformers are now turning their attention. The Rev. John Roach Stratton of New York, whose recent "revelations" concerning the conditions of vice in the metropolis gave liquor men and police officers alike a few unpleasant moments, comes forward, in a sermon, with the declaration that Miss Farrar's bare back, beautiful as it is, should be suppressed. Read what well-known art critics have to say about Miss Farrar's back in the Magazine Section of the next Boston Sunday Advertiser.

The defence of Anson Rest, accused of murder, that he had strangled Vera Schneider of Pontiac, Michigan, at her own earnest request, is probably one of the most peculiar ever to be presented before a court of law. Read about this strange case in the Magazine Section on Sunday.

Ye TOWNE GOSSIP

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

By K. C. B.

DEAR K. C. B.—I've often noticed what a nice, helpful disposition you have, and I thought maybe you could help me. I wouldn't ask only I have a friend who knows you very well and she says you're just lovely. It's this—do you know Peggy Wood in "Buddies"? If you do, I wish you'd ask her to please stop stealing their "buddies" from Brooklyn girls. I am a girl from Brooklyn who sat down in a front box the other night with a good-looking "buddy" from Brooklyn, and we sat right in the same corner where Peggy sits on a bench and tries to make "Bebe" propose, and I had all I could do to keep my "buddy" from jumping onto the stage to show "Bebe" how.

I know Peggy is pretty and sweet and all that, but my "buddy" hasn't been the same to me since, and now he says he used to play with her in Brooklyn when she was just a small girl, and he knows somebody who knows her now, and he is going to get introduced, and I noticed that Peggy gave back "Sonny" to the other girl from Brooklyn, and I thought if you knew her maybe you could do something about it.

Very sincerely yours, LOIS PENDLETON.

Brooklyn, N. Y.

MY DEAR Lois.
IT'S ALL right.
AND WHATEVER your name is.
YOU'RE A good press agent.
AND I'M pleased to meet you.
AND IF I can help you.
BY PRINTING your letter.
WHY, I'M glad to do it.
BECAUSE, ANYWAY.
I'VE GOT to fill this space.
AND IT'S six years now.
SINCE I started this column.
AND LOTS of times.
IT'S PRETTY tough.
JUST TO think of something.
TO WRITE about.
AND A letter like yours.
HELPS TO fill the space.
AND ALL I must do.
IS JUST run along.
WRITING LINES like this.
AND WITH the three little stars.
THAT GO in between.
EACH LINE I write.
MAKES A couple of lines.
AND GETS me two lines closer.
TO THE end of the column.
AND EVERY man.
WHO WRITES a column.
WILL ALWAYS tell you.
THAT THESE last lines.
ARE THE very best things.
I HE HAS ever written.
BUT I'VE transgressed.
AND WANDERED away.
BECAUSE I wanted to ask.
IF IT'S really true.
THAT YOU know a girl.
WHO SAYS she knows me.
AND THINKS I'm lovely.
OR IF you wrote it.
BECAUSE YOU know.
I AM getting old.
AND MAYBE figured.
THAT I'D print the letter.
JUST FOR that one line.
BUT THAT'S no matter.
AND I do know Peggy.
AND I love her much.
AND SHE says she loves me.
LIKE SHE loves her father.

I THANK you.

THE RELIGION TAUGHT BY OVERALLS UNIONS

By Rev. Roland D. Sawyer

A STEP TOWARD POST-WAR SANITY

"People are extremely muddle-headed about life; they are under the impression that the more they acquire and accumulate, the better off they will be; they go on living with this idea till their bodies and lives are as muddled as their brains. It is a form of atavism—because our ancestors lacked, they make it their fixed principle to get."—EDWARD CARPENTER.

SERIOUS minded people are asking "what ails humanity?"

Well, something has always ailed humanity. Humanity has all the troubles of a growing child — ignorance, peevishness, stupidity. As Carpenter wisely points out, while we revert to type in many ways, and bring along the blunders of centuries past, we do this supremely in our desire to accumulate. For many thousand years our parents needed to husband everything in order to have sufficient—we bring along the instinct, magnified and emphasized, and it does us lots of harm.

Robert Louis Stevenson was a very wise man when he telegraphed two friends whose home had burned to the ground: "I congratulate you; you were both slaves keeping that gorgeous home in shape, now you are free to live and be happy."

Slaves to Clothes

How many a weary toiler is a slave to the home he maintains—how many a youth and young man or woman is a slave to the clothing she or he wears.

High wages and prosperity has upset our psychology. As many a young fellow was a fine man on $12 a week but raised to $1,000 a year became useless, conceited and unfit, so millions of men and women, lads and misses, suddenly raised to triple their earning power, have become conceited, arrogant, headstrong, flighty. Their minds are upset. They seek display and pleasure, balk at serious work and soberness.

It Is Serious

This post-war psychology is serious. It is undermining the self-discipline of men and women in all ranks. Self-respect, self-control, forethought, these are all forgotten. Serious times are ahead unless we can return to sanity. The "Overalls idea," showing the first step toward simplicity in personal appearance, may be made into the first step toward post-war sanity in a large way. Its too big to think to consider a joke. Every serious minded man or woman should get behind it, make it a success.

To the Editor

Two Reforms

Editor Boston American:

You have done good work for the helpless people and now add to it by compelling abuttors to have ice put into some receptacle instead of being thrown upon the filthy sidewalks.

Agitate also the passage of a law compelling landlords to heat their houses and flats at all times when necessary. Thousands are sick, and many have died by neglect of owners to provide heat after May 1.

M. T. SHEAHAN.

First Offenders

Editor Boston American:

In your publication of May 12 there was an editorial on a bill now pending at Washington, known as the "Lonergan bill," which would give United States courts the power to grant probation to first offenders. This speaks the truth and will, no doubt, sink into the hearts and minds of all who read it. I was very much interested, as there is one of these cases now in this city. After reading this piece in the Boston American I mentioned it to several people whom I came in contact with, and they all seem to voice the same opinion.

CASE WHERE FORTUNE BROUGHT TROUBLE

By Winifred Black

SHE is poor and tired and puzzled.

There are three children, and the husband and father is dead. Johnnie wants to be an engineer, and Jim intends to be an aviator, and Kate is determined to teach school, and in the meantime mother must keep a roof over their heads and teach them to brush their clothes, and take care of their shoes and see that they don't fall behind in their classes, and get the girl into the right Sunday school, and wonder what sort of boys there are in that new "bunch" Jimmie's always talking about, and save the pennies and turn and dye and mend—and she's tired of it, dreadfully tired.

Especially in the Spring, she is tired.

But one day last week what do you think happened? The doorbell rang and when she went to the door there stood a man whom somehow she seemed to have seen before.

"Don't you remember me, Fanny?" said the man. "I'm 'Rosy' McGuire."

And then the poor woman remembered him very well. He belonged back in the days of her youth, when she wore smart little blouses and cute little shoes and used to sing and go to picnics with the rest. And "Rosy" McGuire was one of the boys who always went, too. They called him "Rosy" because his cheeks were always red.

And when she opened the door wider and bade "Rosy" to come in and sit down he had a strange story to tell her.

It's Different Now

Her sister was dead—the sister she hadn't seen for years, and she had left no heirs, and the poor little widow had come into something like $150,000 and—

She doesn't know what on earth to do with it.

She's afraid to leave it in the bank, because once she and her husband had $350 saved up, and they put it in the little bank in the country where they lived, and the cashier run away and they never saw a cent of the money again. Not a cent.

And yet she can't bring it home and put it under the mattress. She never noticed it before, but now that she comes to think of it there are a lot of awfully queer-looking people in that neighborhood, and if they ever heard that she had so much money she'd be murdered in her bed—not a doubt of it.

A very nice looking man has made her a splendid offer to invest every cent of it in the oil fields. He says she will make a million dollars, if she does, and make it in less than six months.

She had almost decided to do that when a man from a real estate office came to see her and he told her that the oil man was just a shark after her money, and the things he said about the oil man made the little woman feel as if she'd seen a snake—and she went and called up "Rosy" McGuire, the lawyer, and "Rosy" told her not to invest the money in anything at all without consulting him.

And Johnnie wants a motorcycle, but Jim says it must be an automobile—only they simply cannot agree on the make. One wants a long, low racing car or two, and the other wants a big, high-powered touring car, so the "bunch" can go along. And Katie wants one of those new polo coats, some silk stockings and a pair of high-heeled slippers just like those that Kitty Anderson wore to the school exhibit.

Has Many Friends Now

And they'll have to move into another house. This one is too small—and new curtains and carpets, they'll have to have—and the little woman is simply overrun with visitors and can't get time to do a thing.

You see, the story of her good luck was printed in the newspaper, and everybody is so glad of it. People who never took the trouble to speak to her before have just been perfectly lovely, and there's so much good that she can do—for hospitals and orphan asylums and homes for the aged, she feels wicked if she doesn't do some of it. And yet she can't choose which one—and if she gives to them all she won't have a cent left for herself and her children, and that would never do.
